EDITORS ARE CITY'S GUESTS

State Editorial Association Gathered Here for Annual Meeting.

BUSY TIME PLANNED

Receptions, Banquets and Excursions All Serve to Make Visit a Pleasant One.

JUST NOTICE WEEK'S MENU

Pittsburgh during today, tomorrow and the next day will be respectfully dedicated to the Pennsylvania State Editorial association. It is not a case of the latch-string being out. The doors are wide open and "pass-out" checks are not needed, Pittsburgh and everybody and everything therein belong to the scribes.

The advance guard of the host of upstate editors who will hold their convention here this week has arrived, and today the headquarters at the Hotel Schenley will be crowded. The delinquent subscriber will be forgotten, "press day" no longer will be a menace, and the country correspondent will be left to work away on his "sick list" without being disturbed. The editorial "gang's all here" and—well, who cares?

Last night the executive committee of the association held a preliminary meeting at the Schenley and arranged for the winter business meeting at Harrisburg in January.

Prosperous Men of Affairs.

If anybody has it in his head that the men who are gathering in Pittsburgh this week are merely the chaps who print a blanket-sheet on a hand press and are glad to take turnips, pumpkins or cordwood on subscriptions, he is mistaken. Just to show that there was no frost, the executive committee last night voted in 33 new members, and of these 27 are the "whole thing" on prosperous daily papers in the state. The day of the "rube editor" is past in Pennsylvania. The man who runs the newspaper in the country town is a prominent and influential citizen in his community. As a general rule he is a man of culture and of broad business experience. He is a factor in politics and is a man of affairs.

Nobody in last night's meeting was prostrated by overwork. The editors got "30" after they had been in session less than an hour. They forgot themselves once in a while and shouted "copy" to the bell-boy, or absent-mindedly asked for "proofs" when they meant ice water. With a sharp nose for news and a trained habit of taking in things at a glance, they stated that they were not yet able to realize the extent of Pittsburgh's welcome.

Bradford to Be Eclipsed.

Last year they met at Bradford, and the oil country town overwhelmed them with hospitality. Now they say that even the open-door of Bradford will be outdone. In the committee are the Hon. A. Nevin Pomeroy, president; T. H. Harter, first vice president; R. P. Hapgood, of the Bradford Evening Star, secretary and treasurer; E. B. McKee, Oliver D. Schrock and H. A. Thompson, members of the executive committee.

Eight hundred guests are expected in the city. There are nearly 400 editors, and every one is expected to be accompanied by his better half, or his mother or sister. At 9 o'clock this morning all the visitors will be expected to register with the credentials committee at the Schenley and receive the badges which are to be used in lieu of tickets. This formality will be essential, inasmuch as the badges will be absolutely necessary in order to secure admission into places of amusement and on the automobile and trolley trips which are being planned.

Busy Times Are Promised.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon an informal reception will be tendered at the Schenley. No time will be wasted in bidding the visitors welcome. A trolley trip through Pittsburgh's industrial section has been planned for 2 o'clock this afternoon, and it is thought that the strangers will be more interested in seeing the mills and blast furnaces than in listening to speeches. In the morning Col. W. S. Cappellar of Mansfield, O., will speak on "Advertising, From the Newspaper Standpoint," and the Hon. John R. Farr, of the Scranton Truth, will deliver an address on "Our State Editorial Association, Its Past and Future."

At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon the guests will be welcomed to the city by a representative of Mayor Hays. John G. Stephenson, Jr., chairman of the convention committee, will open the formalities by introducing A. J. Barr, president of the Post Publishing Company. On this occasion the mayor's escort will consist of the Pittsburgh newspaper proprietors and executives of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association. These gentlemen are: A. J. Barr, George T. Oliver, George S. Oliver, Joseph T. Nevin, C. A. Rook, W. H. Self, O. S. Hershman, I. E. Hirsch, John E. Joos, George A. Kelly, Jr., and E. J. Lloyd. The response to the speech

BRANCH LINE TO OPEN MUCH COAL

Pennsylvania Will Extend Its Monongahela Division Farther Up River.

CONTRACTS HAVE BEEN LET

Work has been started by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company on an extension of its Monongahela division, which will develop a rich coal region heretofore destitute of transportation facilities except where Monongahela river frontage could be had.

This extension will take the division from its present terminus at West Brownsville to a point near Rices Landing, and the 12 miles of this line have been placed under contract. The work is to be completed in time for the opening of the line next spring. Then there will be continued a development which will give the Pennsylvania a loop through that corner of Washington county back to its Ellsworth branch.

The loop will start at Millsboro and run via Clarksville, three miles, to Zollersville, four miles, and to Bentleysville, seven miles, tapping the Ellsworth branch.

Throughout this district there are rich coal properties. At the river the coal outcrops all the way from West Brownsville to Millsboro, and in that section the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company owns 18,000 acres, with two river frontages, which will now have railroad facilities as well. The Carrie Furnace Company, now identified with the new Midland Steel Company, owns 1,000 acres, which will be used for its furnaces with coke ovens at Cook's Ferry, Beaver county. Isaac F. Piersall has about a half mile of river frontage and the Clyde Coal Company approximately 900 acres.

The Pittsburgh-Buffalo Company owns about 15,000 acres north and west of Zollersville. Ewing & Long of Uniontown have about 2,500 acres back of the Clyde Coal Company's holdings, and F. M. Osborne and others have a 3,000-acre tract between Clarksville and Zollersville.

In addition to the holdings enumerated there are the immense holdings of the J. V. Thompson, personally and with others, in Greene county, but a few miles away. That these large tracts will be opened within the next two years by railroad extensions is considered certain.

One Man Killed; Many Hurt.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., Sept. 25.—An Alabama & Great Southern northbound train collided with the Blockton accommodation of the Louisville & Nashville this evening at Woodstock crossing. H. H. Marbury, conductor, was killed, and 16 white men and 11 negroes were injured.

BASEBALL FANS CAUGHT IN STREET CAR WRECK

Three Ohioans Seriously Injured and Others Slightly Hurt in Rear End Collision.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEWARK, O., Sept. 25.—In a street car collision late this afternoon three persons were seriously hurt and 10 others slightly injured. The cars were returning to town after the baseball game between the Columbus American association and local teams. All were crowded. The first car stopped at Tenth street and the two following ran into it. A panic was narrowly averted.

The most seriously injured are: Lester Bradley, Otto Vogelmeier and Joseph Spettle.

Bradley and Spettle will probably die, while Vogelmeier will be disfigured for life.

CAUGHT IN HIS DEN.

Government Officials Capture Guy Rakes, the West Virginia Counterfeiler.

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Sept. 25.—(Special.)—Guy Rakes, one of the most notorious counterfeiters operating in West Virginia, was surrounded in his little hut in the mountains on Little Ugly creek and captured today. Half a dozen deputy marshals with Winchesters left here early this morning for that isolated region, hoping to locate 10 or 12 counterfeiters said to be operating in conjunction with Rakes. Only Rakes was found and he surrendered without resistance.

MINISTER RECEIVES A BLACK HAND LETTER

SCRANTON, Sept. 25.—A "Black Hand" letter dated and postmarked Brooklyn, N. Y., was received today by the Rev. Joseph de Monte, pastor of the Italian Catholic church of Dunmore. It commanded him to supply himself with $600 in cash and keep it on his person ready to be turned over on demand to an agent of the society, who the letter said, would meet him unexpectedly. Father de Monte turned the letter over to the police.

Police Arrest Murder Suspect.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 25.—A man believed to be Joseph Girard, the New York teamster, suspected of murdering Augusta Pfeiffer in the Bronx 10 days ago, was arrested today at Central Bridge, Schoharie county, and is now in jail at Schoharie awaiting positive identification. This man answers to the descriptions of Girard sent broadcast throughout the state.

Carlton Convicted of Bigamy

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Frederick E. Carlton, a commissary steward in the New York navy yard, was found guilty today of bigamy. Carlton had four wives.

YELLOW FEVER IN NEW YORK

Victim Was Taken Ill at Sea En Route from Colon on the Steamer Havana.

DISEASE SPREADS IN SOUTH

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Another case of yellow fever was reported today at the quarantine hospital on Swinburne island. Health Officer Doty gave out the following statement this evening:

"Jose Macaira, aged 30, a coal passer of the steamer Havana from Colon, was removed to the hospital on Sunday morning. Macaira was sick on the passage from Colon about two days before arrival. The ship's doctor had him under treatment and kept him isolated, and on arrival at quarantine reported the case to Dr. Doty. The man was promptly transferred to the hospital, where he developed yellow fever. Macaira is very sick and Dr. Doty considers his condition as serious."

JACKSON, MISS., Sept. 25.—The yellow fever infection at Hamburg is spreading rapidly, nine new cases, four suspicious cases and one death being reported today. The summary from other infected points is as follows: Natchez, three new cases; Vicksburg, one new case; Gulfport, four new cases; Roxie, one new case, one death; Mississippi City, one new case.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 25.—The yellow fever report for today is: New cases, 27; total to date, 2,863; deaths, 3; total, 376; new foci, 7; cases under treatment, 283; discharged, 2,716.

FIVE ARE DEAD; SCORE INJURED

St. Louis Limited on the P. R. R. Collides With Local Train

SWITCH IS CROSSED

Local on Side Track Caught in the Rear and Three Cars Are Telescoped.

ATTERBURY'S CAR IS WRECKED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Press Building, PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25.

Five persons were killed and 20 or more injured, many of them seriously, in a disastrous rear-end collision at Paoli station, on the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad, shortly before 3 o'clock this afternoon, when the New York limited, No. 38, one of the Pennsylvania railroad's vestibuled flyers, ran past danger signals, and, striking an open switch, ploughed with terrific force through the rear of train No. 149, known as the Paoli accommodation. The dead are:

FRANK A. BRANTOW of Haverford, general agent at Philadelphia of the Safety Car Heating and Lighting Company, and a distant relative by marriage of W. M. Atterbury, general manager of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

GEORGE M. PENNYPACKER, foreman of car inspectors in the West Philadelphia yards.

S. S. WALTON, Altoona, Pa., steam heat inspector at the Altoona shops, Pennsylvania railroad.

RICHARD GARLAND of Narberth, a suburb of this city, general foreman of West Philadelphia shops of the Pennsylvania railroad.

CARL DUNHAUR of Philadelphia, railroad employe.

Long List of the Injured.

Among the injured are the following:

Mrs. J. H. Voorhees, Haverford, Pa.; Mrs. A. C. Bteager, 257 West One Hundred and Thirteenth street, New York; Miss E. K. Spangler, Merchantville, N. J.; Mrs. Clinton D. Fisk, 125 West Fifty-eighth street, New York; O. Milesta, 2150 Victor street, St. Louis; John Ford, 321 Montgomery avenue, Jersey City, cook; J. Travis, Mont Clair, N. J., porter; Mrs. La Motte, Ursona hotel, St. Louis; C. C. Denoist, eight-year-old boy, 3021 Berlin avenue, St. Louis; D. E. Bolt, Dayton, O.; J. A. Flialine, dining car conductor; M. C. Raddold, Jersey City; D. M. Ryan, master mechanic in railroad shops; M. F. Elliott, Philadelphia.

The private car of General Manager W. W. Atterbury, coupled to the rear of the accommodation train, bore the brunt of the collision. With a crash the big engine of the flyer hurled the private car into the body of a baggage coach. It was in the palatial coach of the general manager that all of the dead met their doom.

Danger Signal Unnoticed.

While railroad officials are silent as to the real cause of the disaster, it is the opinion that Engineer Brecknall failed to notice two signals of danger displayed by the tower man. The operator saw the flyer coming, it is said, and promptly threw the approaching express from track 1 to track 2. Before he could close the second switch, however, the flyer was upon it and had rammed the rear end of the local while going at full speed.

Hundreds of railroad men from the yards came quickly to the rescue. Nearly all the injured were at once placed on the forward cars of the local train, which was run to this city as a special. It stopped at Bryn Mawr, where a half dozen of the injured were taken to the Bryn Mawr hospital, and the others were brought here and sent to various hospitals. Some of the slightly injured on the limited did not leave that train, which proceeded as soon as another locomotive could be obtained from the yards.

Four of those who lost their lives were killed almost instantly. The fifth man, Richard Garland, died in the University hospital in this city tonight.

LIPS "SEALED," TONGUE NOISY

Homer Castle Is Very Anxious for Chance to Rip Things.

HIS PLEDGE HINDERS

And He Can Do No More Than Deal in Under Cover Charges.

BERRY HAS FROSTY DAY

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM WALTER J. CHRISTY, Staff Correspondent.

UNIONTOWN, PA., Sept. 25.—William H. Berry, the Democratic-Prohibition candidate for state treasurer, was visiting his Prohibition "girls" here tonight, as he expresses it. Next week he will return to Uniontown to talk with the Democratic "girls." He will tell the same story he has been telling ever since he was suggested by Sam Hudson to Col. J. M. Guffey as a good man to name for treasurer.

There are a couple of thousand Prohibition voters in the county, and about 1,800 of them failed to attend the meeting tonight. W. M. Likens is the red-headed and hopeful leader of the Prohibition party. Oddly enough, he comes from Kentucky, the land of mint smashes and few Prohibitionists. This afternoon he told the writer there were 2,200 Prohibitionists in "old Fiar" and 2,195 were for Berry. He will probably have to revise his estimate this morning, if the attendance at tonight's meeting furnishes any guide. Something has happened to chill the ardor of about 2,200 of Likens' flock, and there had better be a roundup.

Berry is hopeful the Prohibitionists will accept him as a first degree "on-the-water-wagon man." He has flirted with the party on various occasions, but now speaks of the Democratic party as "our party."

Castle's "Sealed" Lips.

He needs all the Prohibitionist votes he can get and Democratic Chairman "Jim" Hall, who, by the way, is a half-and-half Prohibitionist this fall, tells Berry to go out and call the Prohibitionists "brothers," and corral as many of them as possible. In the meantime "Jim" Hall will endeavor to land the lower vote for Berry.

The Democrats kept away from Berry today. They say they want to give the Prohibitionists a fair show, and next week they will do their share. The absence of the Democrats was not pleasing to Homer Castle of Pittsburgh, who is traveling with Berry. He thinks they should have turned out tonight to fill the hall and listen to this cute little emancipator lisp out his denunciation of the leaders of the Republican party. Castle announces he is going to travel up and down this state and do things this fall.

Tonight he devoted himself to making charges against the state treasury without giving names. He assures the people of the "dear old commonwealth" that he is praying the seal may be taken from his lips. Then he will hurl horrible truths at his audiences and "God only knows what will happen." He is so tied up by pledges of honor that he must confine himself with making cowardly attacks on the state treasurer of today and those of the past. Cowardly, because he repeats alleged conversations with bank officials, and gives no names. He should either show his hand or admit that he is four-flushing.

Admits Chestnut Quality.

Attorney Harry Robinson was chairman of the meeting. He presented Castle as the first speaker. Castle's father was once a clergyman in this town and this probably caused the little Pittsburgher to say: "I am pretty near a chestnut to you. I struck this town when I was about knee high to a duck, and I haven't got much higher." He says the books of the state treasury have not been squared for 25 years, and wants Berry elected so he can look into the cash box and see what it contains.

He repeated the speech he made at Harrisburg last week, when he said that Senator Penrose and a man named Sloan of Pittsburgh had put state money into an Allegheny county bank on condition they would receive a loan. This story was denied by Penrose. Tonight Castle says that a Philadelphia paper of this morning printed an admission from Penrose that he did sign the note.

Then Castle made these statements, giving no authority but himself: "I have been the recipient of all kinds of information since I made the Harrisburg speech. It is more or less reliable. I can see how most of it can be true, but some is exaggerated. To me it is a revelation. I say this on my own responsibility. I am not striking without knowing what I am saying. I made certain promises to people who have given me information. I will say tonight that if people will entrust me with their secrets concerning the management of the treasury I will keep faith.

Just Waiting a Chance.

"Since that meeting a man came to my office and locked the door. He told me a story of the use of the state funds. I cannot give you the details. I hope to have my lips unsealed before November 7. Then I will tell it, and God only knows what will happen."

Here is another sample of the Castle campaign methods: "A man came to my house in the hours of the night to tell me about a president of a bank being offered a state deposit of $100,000. He was told, 'You can get $150,000 if you will prepare a bond and send it to the state treasurer.' This was done, and in a few days a note signed by three state politicians came to his bank for discount. He didn't understand why the paper should come to him. None of the men had an account at his bank and he turned down the note. The deposit of $100,000 did not come. With another officer of the bank he went to Harrisburg to make inquiry. He was told: 'When you discount that note for $17,000 you can get the $100,000 deposit.' He did not get the deposit. I will keep absolute faith

BIG HOLDING COMPANY IS FORMED BY INDEPENDENT TELEPHONE MEN

"United States" Is the Name of Concern Which Will Control New York Interests, and Own the Stromberg-Carlson Plant.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Another large step forward in the movement toward the union of the independent telephone interests of this country was made today when papers were filed with the secretary of state at Trenton, N. J., increasing the capital of the "United States Independent Telephone Company" from $50,000 to $30,000,000.

This is to be the big holding company. It will control from the start the New York situation, directly operated by the "New York Independent Telephone Company," described in Sunday's Gazette; the Stromberg-Carlson manufacturing interests at Rochester and the Rochester Telephone Company, as well as a number of New York companies.

In short the "United States Independent Telephone Company" is to be the "mother company" of the independent telephone business of this country.

A surprise was sprung here today when it became known that the Independents have captured a franchise to operate in New York. This was done through the purchase of an existing company whose franchise is said to possess all the qualifications needed. This at one stroke the independents secure entry to this rich field.

The interests identified with the big company will include well-known New York capitalists, as well as the men of financial standing who have been prominent in the independent movement in Pittsburgh, Cleveland, St. Louis and in Rochester. It is said the Pittsburgh contingent in the new company includes, directly and indirectly, practically the entire "Hall syndicate" which was formed in Pittsburgh over two years ago to buy the Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company from the eastern interests, mainly Baltimore, which started the enterprise. This syndicate includes Robert C. Hall, D. P. Rothgard, R. H. Bliss, J. M. Clapp, H. B. Beatty and President J. G. Splane of the company, as well as some others.

St. Louis men are also prominent in the enterprise. Their number includes Adolphus Busch, William J. Lemp, William Moelker and Breckinridge Jones. J. R. Hoge of Cleveland, president of the National Interstate Telephone association, is among those interested.

Active prosecution of their plans is to be the watchword of the new movement. It is expected that the organization of the company will be completed in the course of a fortnight. The fact that the company controls the Stromberg-Carlson plant, occupying 25 acres of ground and employing close to 1,000 men, gives it assurance of obtaining its apparatus promptly.

STATE EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION OFFICERS

with my informant. If the three politicians publicly recognize that transaction it will release my tongue and I'll tell who did it. I may, anyhow, before this show is over."

Berry Headed for Pittsburgh.

Castle attacked the issuing of a letter by the state Republican committee soliciting subscriptions. He did not read the letter and endeavored to give the inference that it was going out from the state treasury.

It will be interesting to the banking world of Pittsburgh to know, according to Castle, "that the great banks of Pittsburgh will not touch a cent of state deposits under any conditions. That to be a state depository instead of being an insignia of honor is a brand of suspicion." He also says there are banks which cannot pay their state deposits if called upon to do so. Castle would be performing a service by naming these institutions.

All that Castle said about the candidate for state treasurer on the Republican ticket was that he parts his name, like his hair, in the middle. It happens that Lee Plummer is extremely bald, but, then, why does a reformer need to stick to the truth? It is easier to four-flush.

Berry stuck to the speech made at Harrisburg on the occasion of his acceptance of the Democratic nomination. He can say it backward or forward, fast or slow. It does not improve with age and some of the audience went out. The show is billed for Greensburg tomorrow night.

Berry will run into Pittsburgh tomorrow to see Col. Guffey about the Citizens nomination. He would like to see his name on some ticket where there is a chance to get some votes, and the news from the Philadelphia City party is not calculated to make him happy.

EDITORS ARE CITY'S GUESTS

of welcome will be made by President Pomeroy.

Will Take a Trolley Trip.

On the trolley trip the editors will be the guests of J. D. Callery, president of the Pittsburgh Railways Company. Special cars will leave the Schenley hotel and run through the residence sections in Fifth and Penn avenues and Squirrel hill to Braddock and Homestead and Turtle Creek valley, giving a splendid view of the workshops of Greater Pittsburgh.

After dinner this evening three interesting excursions will be open at the option of the guests. One delegation will inspect the bakeries of the Ward-Mackey Company, another will enjoy the sights at Luna park and the third party will "take in" the exposition.

Tomorrow morning a short business session will be held at the Schenley. The ladies will not be interested in this, and while the wise men are deliberating, their better-halves will whirl through the parks and along the boulevards in automobiles provided by the Pittsburgh Press. Tomorrow afternoon Capt. John F. Klein will introduce the editors to Pittsburgh's navy. He will throw down the gang plank of the Island Queen and will take a cruise of the Ohio and Monongahela rivers.

Banquet at the Schenley.

Tomorrow night the banquet will be held at the Schenley. There will be no formalities and those things which are usually printed on the banquet menu in red ink will be served on the piazza. The music will be furnished by Gernet's orchestra and the M. and M. quartet, consisting of J. C. Whitfield, Frank J. Neeley, George S. Boyd and A. S. Cowperthwaite. Congressman James Francis Burke will be toastmaster. He will be introduced by James W. Wardrop, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers association. John H. Jones will speak of "Old King Coal;" Arthur G. Burgoyne, "All Sorts Man" on the Pittsburgh Leader, will tell something in rhyme of the Pittsburgh Press Club, which is exerting itself to the utmost with the Merchants and Manufacturers association, in the entertainment of the visitors; Congressman John Dalzell will answer the toast, "Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh," and will be allowed to talk shop; Charles Emory Smith, editor of the Philadelphia Press and former postmaster general, will speak on "Our State Editors."

When the Climax Comes.

On Thursday the Pennsylvania railroad will get out a special train and show the visitors what Pittsburgh terminals look like. This trip will be complementary to the trolley ride, and will prove to the visitors why Pittsburgh successfully claims the world's largest freight tonnage. In the afternoon luncheon will be served at the Westinghouse plant in East Pittsburgh. On Thursday night the new Dispatch building in Fifth avenue will be formally opened with a reception to the newspaper men. Then—after it is over—the Pittsburgh reporters will take the visitors in hand and a "night in bohemia" will be celebrated in true Press club fashion. The best talent from the local theaters will be on hand. The clock on city hall by this time will have struck the midnight hour. Who will think of dull care then? Nobody!

PUPILS OF FIFTY YEARS AGO RETURN TO THEIR ALMA MATER

Semi-Centennial Group in the Entrance of the Fifth Avenue High School.

DAYS OF YOUTH ARE RECALLED

High School Pupils Instructed by Late Prof. Philetus Dean. Hold Happy Reunion.

DWELL ON THE OLDEN TIME

The Dean Pupils' association, composed of men and women who enjoyed instruction under the late Prof. Philetus Dean, the first principal of the Pittsburgh High school, held a reunion in the Fifth Avenue High school building last evening. Many of the pupils are prominent in business and professional life; many had not seen one another for years, and there was a general handshaking all around after many re-introductions had been made. Many of the pupils had so changed in appearance that their old schoolmates could not recognize them.

The ground-floor corridor of the school building still had the decorations which were put up in honor of the 50th anniversary of the founding of the high school, celebrated under the auspices of the board of education during the day. Under the palms and among the flowers the grown men and women congregated, talking of old times. The youngest of them was not a youth, for Prof. Dean died in 1871. Some of those present were among the first pupils who entered the high school when it was founded a half century ago. After the speech-making a buffet luncheon was served.

The meeting was called to order by W. S. McCutcheon, a member of the central board of education. The invocation was by the Rev. Dr. James Y. Boice, who is the son of the first janitor of the first high school. Prof. Samuel Andrews, superintendent of city schools, delivered the greeting in the absence of D. L. Gillespie, president of the central board. He was responded to by Charles C. Scaife, who acted as master of ceremonies. Col. S. W. Hill spoke on "The 114," that being the number of pupils who entered the high school when it was organized. He said at first there was much opposition to a high school, which was started in the interest of economy, as it was thought too expensive for each school to have its own high school class, there being then nine wards in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Hepsie Wilkins Hamilton, one of the original high school class, talked on "The Class of '58." She said that for two years previous to her graduation she was the only girl in the class, and she contrasted that day with the present time, when there are more girl than boy graduates. She was the first girl graduate.

Mrs. Ella McCargo Mason spoke on "Early Environment," and Dr. Boice on Prof. Dean. Miss Nannie Mackrell spoke on "Fifty Years of High School Progress." Alexander C. Montgomery spoke on "Memorial Tablets," the soldiers' memorials which the association purposes to place in the high school. They are to contain the names of every high school boy who entered the union army. "Our Soldier Dead" was a subject feelingly handled by Robert D. McKee. George T. Fleming spoke of "Master and Pupil."

The meeting closed with the singing of old songs.

PRETTY CIGAR SALESGIRL KEEPS SHAW FROM HOME

Mother's Long Trip Fails to Draw Secretary's Son from Humble Employment.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

SEATTLE, WASH., Sept. 25.—A mother's love for her son induced Mrs. Leslie M. Shaw, wife of the secretary of the treasury, to journey from her home in Iowa to Seattle in an effort to induce Earl, her 24-year-old boy, to leave his position as a laborer at the Broad street dock and return to Washington, where he may live as fitting his father's position.

Mrs. Shaw arrived here tonight accompanied by her daughter and was met at the depot by Earl in response to a message from the secretary. While he was glad to see his mother, he will not return with her. In fact, it is said, one of the attractions in Seattle is the pretty cigar stand girl at one of the prominent hotels, to whom he has been attentive during his stay here.

Captain Dravo Is Resting Easy.

BEAVER, PA., Sept. 25.—(Special.)—Capt. John F. Dravo, who is believed to be dying at his home here, experienced a sinking spell at 6 o'clock this evening, but was revived, and late tonight was resting easy. He is being kept alive by the administration of stimulants and no hope for his recovery is offered by the physicians. Judge Henry Hice, who is also critically ill, shows indications of recovery.

FRENZIED MAN HITS WOMEN PEDESTRIANS

Michael McCobbin Holds Sway in Sixth Street Till Subdued by an Officer.

Taking up a position on the sidewalk in Sixth street, below Penn avenue, yesterday afternoon, Michael McCobbin, aged 34, who claims to live in Pittsburgh, declared no one should pass him, and he held to his determination till Special Officer Patrick Kelley appeared on the scene. McCobbin did not molest any of the men who happened to be in the street, but when women passed unaware of his attitude toward pedestrians, he struck them, and in one case knocked a woman into the street with his fist.

After McCobbin had punched several women the other women in the street became almost panic-stricken and fled. A big crowd collected and this attracted the attention of the officer, who hurried to the scene. When he grasped McCobbin, the man put up a fight, and then the officer treated him to a few blows similar to the ones he had dealt out to the women.

McCobbin, after being roughly handled, decided to do as the officer wished, and gave up possession of the sidewalk. He was sent to Central police station and locked up. McCobbin apparently had not been drinking, and the police were unable to determine what possessed him to make the attack on the women.

VICTIMS OF INSULT.

Prominent Club Women Are Subjected to Shameful Ingominy While on a Trolley Car.

Miss Kate C. McKnight and three women friends were victims of ignominious insult while on a trolley car returning from Homestead yesterday evening, where they had been attending a meeting of the Homestead Women's club. Shortly after they had entered the car a drunken man dropped asleep and his head began to fall over on Miss McKnight, who sat next to him. This was repeated several times until she was forced to get up and stand.

Just at this time another drunken man fell into the lap of one of Miss McKnight's friends. Miss McKnight had found a seat again, and the fellow tried to seat himself in her lap.

The ladies appealed to the conductor, who had smilingly watched the performance, for protection and asked to have the men ejected from the car. He showed no inclination to respond until a gentleman interfered and threatened to have the men arrested. Then they left the car. The matter will be taken up with the railways company today.

ACCUSE YOUNG GIRL.

Fifteen Year-old New York Miss Is Charged With Writing "Black Hand" Letters.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Nellie Nussbaum, 15 years of age, was today accused by her father of writing him letters threatening death unless he paid her $50. The letters were signed "The Black Hand." The girl confessed to the police today that she wrote such letters to her father, saying that she did it "just for fun."

All of them were written within the last two weeks. The police traced to Nellie's pen another "Black Hand" letter demanding money, which so alarmed another business man that detectives were put on his case, too.

GENERAL BOOTH PLANS FOR INDUSTRIAL HOME

Meets With Officers of Volunteers of America in Conference in East End.

At a general council of the officers of the Volunteers of America held yesterday in their headquarters, 5326 Station street, it was decided to open an industrial home, not only for homeless and distressed men but for women as well.

Upon his arrival here yesterday morning Gen. Booth was taken to the home of Col. C. Herron, Black street, East End, and was later joined there by Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth. At 11 o'clock Gen. Booth addressed a council of the officers of the Central regiment at the headquarters, Station street. There were present at the council the following officers: Capt. and Mrs. Frank Sisson of Cleveland, O.; Capt. and Mrs. Walter Collins of Columbus, O.; Capt. Frank Vanderven of Erie; Capt. John Knight of Erie; Capt. Penn and wife of Syracuse, N. Y.; Capt. C. H. O'Brien of Cambride, O.; A. D. C. Hilty and wife and Lieut. George Nichols of McKeesport, and Maj. Ida B. Corbin, Capt. Jennie Morris and Lieut. Mabel Higgs of Allegheny.

The Rev. A. G. Tippett of London, England, pastor of the Episcopal church, was present with his wife. It is the intention of Mr. Tippett to give up the ministerial work and engage in the work of installing the industrial homes. He will be assisted by his wife. Upon the departure of Gen. and Mrs. Booth on the 7:20 train at the East Liberty station, a German band was hired for the occasion and preceded them to the station playing the national airs.

MANY MEN ARE INJURED BY COLLAPSE OF WALL

New Building Falls at Buffalo and Thirty Bricklayers Are Carried Down in the Crash.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BUFFALO, Sept. 25.—With a crash that could be heard for blocks a three-story building under course of construction in West Ferry street collapsed this afternoon, carrying down with it 30 bricklayers and carpenters who were on top of the structure. A score of the men were injured, eight of them seriously.

Six of the injured men were taken to hospitals and two were removed to their homes in ambulances.

The building was owned by J. J. Crowley. Morris & Allen had the contract for the masonry and their men were working on the third story today when the west wall went down.

JURY STILL BUSY ON THE SHERRICK CASE

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Sept. 25.—The grand jury investigation of the case of David E. Sherrick, former auditor of state, was resumed today. Willard S. Wickard, treasurer of the J. H. Murray Lumber Company, who signed notes aggregating over $50,000, which form a part of the assets left by Sherrick after his retirement, was the first witness. Stoughton A. Fletcher and Stoughton J. Fletcher both of the Fletcher National bank of this city, also testified before the grand jury. When they were excused John E. Reed, receiver of the Sherrick securities, was summoned by telephone.

DUCHESS A PATIENT IN A PRIVATE HOSPITAL

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(Special.)—Consuelo, duchess of Marlborough, is a patient in the private hospital at 32 East Thirty-third street, popularly known as Dr. Bull's sanitarium. She is under the care of Dr. H. Holbrook Curtis, a specialist in throat diseases. She arrived there before the noon hour and the operation, a slight one, was performed soon after. Dr. Curtis said tonight it was nothing serious and she will be out in a day or two.

VALOROUS DEEDS OF CLASSMATES

James H. Kerr Delivers a Stirring Address at High School Semi-Centennial.

DEANS ASSOCIATION MEETS

A stirring history of the boys of the Pittsburgh High school who served in the Civil war was read by John H. Kerr at the semi-centennial exercises of the school yesterday afternoon. Mr. Kerr's address was one of the features of the exercises at which 250 graduates and former pupils honored their alma mater.

The central board room auditorium and the main hall of the building were decorated with flowers and evergreens and the red and black colors of the high school. The exercises took place in the auditorium. Mr. Kerr said, among other things:

As the representative of the classes that entered the High school prior to the civil war I salute you, the graduates of the later classes, and join you in celebrating this, the jubilee of our alma mater. The number of boys of the High school who entered the armies of the union in the civil war has not been definitely ascertained. I have made a list of 63 names, but there may be others.

I hope some systematic method may be adopted, in order that a complete roster of those patriots, living and dead, which shall become the High school's roll of honor, shall be engraved in large letters on tablets of bronze and placed on the wall at the head of the grand stairway of the academic building, that the youth of coming generations may read them and thus be taught the lessons of patriotism and valor.

Boy Soldier Died a Hero.

Of the honored dead all were pupils of the old Smithfield street building when I attended the High school, and some of them were my classmates. The first name on the roll of honor is that of Samuel Taggart, the valedictorian of the class of 1856, who enlisted as a first sergeant of Company H, One Hundred and Twenty-third Pennsylvania regiment of volunteers, and mustered in May 1, 1861. He was promoted April 1, 1864, as captain of Company I, One Hundred and Sixtieth regiment, and when Capt. Newlon, senior officer of the regiment, was killed on August 25, 1864, at the battle of Ream's station, Capt. Taggart assumed command and had scarcely reached his place in front of the line when he was shot down, falling as a brave soldier would wish to fall, at the head of his men leading them against the foe.

Mr. Kerr proceeded in like manner with the other names on the roll of honor, commenting affectionately on the martial qualities of each. He gave a list of the high school boys who served in the civil war, those who were wounded and those who died of their wounds and those who served and are living, and concluded:

Fifty-Three Served in War.

Considering that the total enrollment of the boys in the classes from 1858 to 1864, inclusive, was 248, and out of this number 53 went into the armies of the union, or nearly 21 per cent, and considering their ages, we may confidently claim that no other educational institution in the whole country can furnish a parallel to it in lofty patriotism, sublime heroism and exalted self-sacrifice.

W. S. McCutcheon opened the afternoon exercises with a short address. George F. Fleming presided. D. L. Gillespie, president of the central board, made a few remarks and read a letter from Dr. Charles B. Wood, for many years the director of the High schools, who is now living in Colorado.

The Rev. Dr. Henry Berkowitz of Philadelphia, chancellor of the Jewish Chautauqua, an alumnus of the school, spoke on the "Second Era—the Wood Street School." He described the school as it was located at Sixth avenue and Wood street, with quarters cramped, unsuitable and unsanitary. The methods, the faculty and the pupils were all described in an interesting manner.

A poem, composed by Athos L. Asper of the class of '85, was read by Prof. George M. Sleeth, himself a graduate and for many years a member of the faculty.

Ranks Among the Best.

Prof. Edward Ryneareon, director of the High school, said the first public high school was established in the United States at Boston in 1634. Nearly 200 years later the second was founded at Portland, Me. The Pittsburgh school, founded in 1855, was the thirty-seventh. There are now over 7,000 in the country. The policy of the Pittsburgh school has changed less than others, because it had great educators to map out its policy. Among these he mentioned the name of Prof. Dean.

Samuel Andrews, superintendent of the Pittsburgh schools, was the last speaker. He referred to the many years of his association with the Pittsburgh High school and claimed the school had done as much for the state and nation as any in the commonwealth. He paid a high tribute to the work done by Miss Jennie Ralston, superintendent of the normal department, and this praise was received with applause.

At the close of the exercises the members of the High school and their guests partook of a buffet lunch.

FATHER KILLED AND DAUGHTER INJURED

HAMMOND, IND., Sept. 25.—Asa Bullock, a prominent attorney of northern Indiana, is dead, at his home in Hobart, and his daughter, Jessie Bullock, is seriously injured as the result of an accident. While driving on a country road near here this afternoon, the horse became frightened at a passing automobile and plunged down a steep embankment. Bullock was extricated from beneath the horse and lived only a short time. The girl's body was badly crushed.

MRS. LEE IS OUSTED FROM OYSTER BAY

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Mrs. Lee, the Chicago woman, who has made several efforts to see President Roosevelt this summer, came here again today and tried to hire a horse and carriage with which to drive to Sagamore Hill. She did not succeed and the secret service men were notified. She was requested to leave town and did so.

MORE LIGHT ON SUITCASE MURDER

The Finding of a Woman's Bloodstained Garments is An Aid to the Police.

HUNT FOR MISSING DOCTOR

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—The features of today's investigation of the Winthrop dress suit case mystery were the finding of a bundle containing a woman's garments and blood-stained clothes, and the apparent identification of the dress suit case, in which was found the dismembered body of a woman near the float of the Winthrop Yacht club. The bundle was found lying on the shore of the Winthrop peninsula about a mile and a half from the point where the dress suit case was first seen.

In the bundle which was enclosed with strong manila wrapping paper were a woman's under vest, a towel, the part of a shirt, some absorbent cotton and several pieces of cheese cloth, blood-stained. On the wrapping paper was a label with this address: "R. O. Burnham, 7 Dalton street, city." The label was that of a silk firm on Kingston street, Boston.

Inquiry at the silk store failed to assist the police, as the salesman was of the opinion that the goods sold to Burnham were delivered last Friday. This is one day later than the finding of the dress suit case and would tend to show that the bundle may have no connection with the mystery.

The report of Medical Examiner Harris to the effect that the dismembering of the body and the operation performed on the woman were the work of a skilled surgeon and the allegations of two witnesses that the dress suit case was the property of a physician have led the police to redouble their efforts to find the missing doctor. The police know the wanted man, but have not divulged his name.

In connection with the repair work on the dress suit case the local police have been informed that John Weeks, a harness maker of Camden, Me., about three weeks ago, mended a dress suit case similar in description to the Winthrope one for a young woman.

R. O. Barnham proved to be Rebecca O. Burnham, a small drygoods dealer, and inquiry at her store showed that Miss Burnham had used the paper found on the clothing at Winthrope to wrap some goods sold to a woman on Saturday. Miss Burnham does not know who the customer was.

NINTH DISTRICT MINERS DEMAND EIGHT-HOUR DAY

Fifth Annual Convention Being Held at Lykens—Increase in Membership of Unions.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LYKENS, PA., Sept. 25.—The delegates to the fifth annual convention of the United Mine Workers of the ninth district, representing 20,000 mine workers, passed resolutions demanding an eight-hour day and recognition of the union.

The convention also declared in favor of the election of the members composing the board of examiners of applicants for certificates for mine inspectors in the anthracite field instead of their appointment by the courts, claiming that the eligible district was being purposely limited to the number of positions to be filled in favor of the present incumbents.

According to reports from the secretaries of local unions the organization has increased over 25 per cent in membership since the recent speech-making tour of President Mitchell in the Schuylkill region.

MORTON DOESN'T RELISH EQUITABLE'S CAFE IDEA

But Swell Restaurant Will Have to be Tolerated for the Present at Least.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Paul Morton, president of the Equitable Life Assurance society, said today with reference to the society's ownership of the Cafe Savarin, the restaurant located in the Equitable building, that "there has been no change in its relation to the Equitable society, which now owns and operates it. I do not like the idea of the society being in the restaurant business, but it is a condition that I found, and we will have to continue in the business until I can make other arrangements. No officer, director or employe of this society is interested in any way in the profits of the cafe."

State Attorney General Mayer announced today that thus far he had received but one individual answer from any of the directors of the Equitable Life Assurance society in the suits he has brought against the society and its directors for an accounting of the society's funds. Attorney General Mayer has extended the time in which the directors may answer the suits against them to October 16.

DEADLOCK HAS ARISEN.

France and Venezuela at Loggerheads Over Refusal of M. Taigny to Tender Apologies.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Minister Russell cabled the state department today from Caracas, very briefly stating that the French government has requested the Venezuelan foreign office to withdraw that part of a recent note which gave notice that Venezuela would not communicate further through M. Taigny, the French charge d' affaires at Caracas, until he apologized for his statement that the French Cable Company has not been treated justly. Mr. Russell made no comment upon the facts, but leaves it to be inferred that a deadlock has arisen through the failure of the Venezuelan government to comply with the French request.

It is said here that no action is required by this government at present. Probably when M. Jusserand, the French ambassador, reaches this country about the end of this week, he will seek to interest the state department in this matter.

MAY ARM VIGILANT.

Dominion Government Anxious for Authority to Effectively Suppress American Poachers in Lake Erie.

OTTAWA, ONT., Sept. 25.—The department of marine and fisheries has referred to the imperial government the question of supplying the Canadian cruiser Vigilant with quick fire three-pound guns. Officials here believe that under the Rush-Bagot treaty of 1817 they can ship guns of that size, but it has been considered desirable to consult the imperial government before taking the step.

If the answer from London is favorable four quick-firing three-pounders will be at once forwarded from Halifax and placed on board the Vigilant on Lake Erie and decisive steps will be taken to stop the wholesale poaching by American fishermen.

OLD OFFICERS TO TAKE A HAND, TOO

Surviving Member of Knights of Fidelity Deny Owens' Has Right to Charter.

MISSIONARY WOMEN BUSY

When the former officers and the surviving charter members of Pittsburgh lodge No. 1, Knights of Fidelity, learned yesterday that a copy of the organization's charter was found in a house at Forbes and Marion streets by the county detectives in a raid early Sunday morning they were indignant. A consultation was held and it was decided to begin an investigation today, as the members thought the charter had been returned to court and annulled. George N. Mashey of Smithfield street last night declared the men arrested by the county officers had no right to the old organization's charter.

Howard Owens, a clerk in the office of Mayor Hays; William Hemingray and John Heben were arrested when the raid was made and they have given bail in $1,000 each for a hearing before Alderman Toole on a charge of keeping a gambling house and selling liquor without a license. The charter of the Knights of Fidelity, a fraternal organization which went out of existence some years ago, was found framed on the wall. Mr. Mashey said the only way he knows the men could have secured the copy of the charter is through a bartender who was a member of the old organization, and has no right to it.

The fact that Mayor Hays' clerk is charged with being one of the proprietors of the place has added zest to the movement inaugurated by the Women's Union Missionary society of Allegheny county. By laughing at the women's investigation and calling it a huge joke Mayor Hays has aroused the members of the society to get proofs of the doings of his police, even if it is necessary to employ detectives to get at the bottom.

"Tomorrow we expect to make a report," said Mrs. R. C. Wylie, chairman of the committee, last evening. "We were to have met today, but one woman on the committee is out of town and we must wait until she returns."

"It is a disgrace that any official should make so light of the earnest work of good women, but this was an insult that we cannot overlook and that we should not," said Mrs. Wylie.

The investigations already made and the work done by the committee has not been restricted to any one portion of the city, but the purpose of the committee is to begin at the top of the force. Supt. Wallace not being in any respect exempt from the searchlight the women have turned on the police force. Every reported negligence of duty and little indiscretion or flagrant act of a member of the police bureau has been secured and filed by the committee.

The report is expected to take the form of a petition, which will be presented to influential bodies for endorsement, demanding a clean, strong body of men as the guardians of the law.

ACCEPT RESIGNATION.

Pastor-Burgess of Tarentum Severs Connection With Congregation, but Retains Political Office.

The Rev. T. C. Anderson, whose occupation of the dual positions of pastor of the United Presbyterian church and burgess of that borough created a controversy which led to the appointment of an investigating committee by Allegheny presbytery, yesterday handed that committee his resignation as pastor but retained his position as burgess. He had been pastor of the congregation 11 years and burgess two years.

The factional differences which led to Mr. Anderson handing his resignation to presbytery last June is said to have been due to his political aspirations, but he alleges that this is erroneous, and that a woman whom he likens to "a Judas" caused the strife by circulating slanderous gossip and drawing up and securing signatures to a petition. This angered the pastor, and he is said to have written presbytery asking that his resignation be withdrawn.

The investigating commission of which the Rev. W. I. Wishart of Allegheny is moderator, visited Tarentum yesterday morning. All signers of the petition against the pastor were called before the commission and asked to reaffirm what they had signed. All are reported to have disclaimed knowledge of improper conduct on the part of the minister. After a short deliberation Moderator Wishart announced that the reflection which had been cast upon the pastor was unmerited and his resignation was then accepted, to take effect October 29. He was given leave of absence until that time on full salary. Mr. Anderson left for New York on a short visit last night and stated he would not be a candidate for re-election as burgess when his term expires next March.

DEATH REACHES THE JAIL FIRST

When Constable Shows Release for Prisoner, He Learns of Christ Carl's Demise.

MANY CASES FOR CORONER

When Constable Louis Cubbage went to the jail with a release for Christ Carl, the man who caused a sensation in Justice Elsesser's office in Etna by swallowing a powder on Saturday, and declaring he would never reach the jail, the constable found a higher authority had released Carl. The man was to have had a hearing on a charge of larceny yesterday afternoon, but when Cubbage reached the jail Warden Lewis notified him Carl had died in the jail Sunday morning.

A post-mortem examination was held on the body yesterday and the physician stated Carl's death resulted from congestion of the brain brought on by alcoholism. Carl had been a prisoner at the jail a number of times and on several occasions he had been treated for alcoholism while confined there.

George Wunkers, aged 25, who shot himself in the head at his home in Dravosburg Sunday evening, died at 10 o'clock last night at the McKeesport hospital. He was a widower.

While watching her sister Mary, aged 17, working in the kitchen at the family home, 433 Third avenue, Homestead, Annie, the 3-year-old daughter of John Daviski, was burned to death at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mary Daviski, in attempting to save the child's life, was badly burned about the face and hands. The child's clothing was ignited from the stove.

George Rossi, aged 45, an Italian, was run over and killed by a coal car at Castle Shannon yesterday morning. Rossi was riding on the front of a car running toward the coal tipple and fell off the bumper. Both his legs were crushed and he died 20 minutes later.

Henry Williams, alias Henry Shackleford, aged 26, a negro, died at 2 a. m. at the Allegheny county workhouse, where he was serving a sentence for burglary. He had served one year and 11 days. Bright's disease caused death.

The body of the man drowned at Herrs island dam on Sunday, and which was thought to be that of John Haas of 1326 Main street, Sharpsburg, was identified yesterday by Peter Considine of 186 Thirty-sixth street, as his brother Matthew, aged 29. Matthew left home a week ago yesterday and had not been seen by members of his family till his body was identified at the morgue.

Coroner Armstrong will hold an inquest at 11 a. m. today into the death of Antonio Pughesi, an Italian, who died of injuries to the head received on September 12, while working at the Schoen Pressed Steel Car Company plant in Allegheny. Bolo Davidowski is under arrest on a charge of striking Pughesi with the handle of a brush used in cleaning cars.

George K. Smith, aged 70, of 1423 Rebecca street, Allegheny, died yesterday at the Allegheny General hospital from injuries received earlier in the day. Smith was employed as a patternmaker at the Westinghouse plant in Lacock street, Allegheny, and while working at a lathe the machine broke and a piece struck Smith behind the right ear.

John Klosocki, aged 25, went into the alley in the rear of the pool room of Frank Geppert, at No. 1105 Carson street, last night and drank a two-ounce vial of carbolic acid. He then went into the pool room and sat down on a chair and in a few minutes fell over on the floor. Klosocki was taken to the South Side hospital, but died on the way.

Baron Komura Sails Tomorrow.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Baron Komura, the Japanese peace envoy, has so far recovered from his illness that he will start on his journey to Japan on Wednesday. The baron will be accompanied by Mr. Sato, who remained with the baron when the rest of the suite started for home after the peace negotiations had been concluded. They will go by rail to Vancouver whence they will sail on the steamer Empress of India October 2.

Finds Unconscious Man in Street.

W. A. Kirby of Sheraden was found unconscious in Liberty avenue, near Fifth avenue, last night by Captain Bartley of No. 1 chemical company. Bartley sent him to Central police station in a patrol wagon, but as Kirby was injured he was sent to the Homeopathic hospital, where the physicians said he was badly hurt and would have to remain there. It is thought Kirby was hurt by falling and striking his head in the street.

Miss Lape's Teaching Wins.

The committee on High school of the Allegheny board of school controllers last night nominated Miss Hester Lape for assistant teacher of Latin in the High school. At the last meeting Miss Lape and Miss Clara Wilson each received six votes, and it was decided to allow each candidate to teach half a week on trial. The trial resulted in the selection of Miss Lape.

WILL BE HARD TO KEEP OUT OF BLUE RIBBONS AT HORSE SHOW

BIT AND SPUR.

Perhaps the highest price a heavy harness pair ever brought to Pittsburgh were purchased a few days ago by P. F. Jones, Jr., and will be shown as a pair at the Sewickley horse show, also in tandem and lead for four. Bit and Spur won as a pair at Plainfield and were second to Newsboy and Shopgirl in the tandem class. They are mahogany bay geldings, 16.2 hands.

NOMINATE THEIR TICKETS.

Republicans and Democrats of Cambria County Hold Convention at Ebensburg.

EBENSBURG, PA., Sept. 25.—(Special.)—A "double-header" convention held here today by the Republican and Democratic county delegates resulted in the nomination of the following delegates:

Republicans: County treasurer, William H. Sunshine of Johnstown; county commissioners, John Owens of Ebensburg and Charles Leventry of Johnstown; poor director, Philip Hertzog of Carroll township.

Democrats: County treasurer, James F. Green of Johnstown; county commissioners, Thomas Peatly of Ebensburg and Conrad Hahn of Johnstown; poor director, William E. Lantzy of Susquehanna township.

MAN ASKS FOR A ROOM, BUT GETS A BEATING

William Brown, a negro, is locked up charged with beating E. D. Davis, another negro, with a whisky bottle, three beer bottles and a water pitcher, and then throwing his unconscious victim over a 16-foot stairway into a yard. It is also alleged Brown robbed the unconscious man of his gold watch and chain. The assault is said to have occurred at the house of Mrs. Lucy Hatchet, 185 Boundary street, Saturday night. During the absence of the woman Davis went there to get lodging and was warmly received by Brown, who roomed in the house, and had been drinking.

IS ATTACKED ON STREET.

Man Is Felled With Handbilly and Rendered Unconscious.

James McQuaine of Fifth avenue and Brady street is in the West Penn hospital nursing a gash over his left eye and a dislocated left arm. John Casey and J. J. Armstrong, his alleged assailants, were locked up in the Lawrenceville police station.

While standing at Penn avenue and Eleventh street last night he was attacked by two men, one of whom struck him above the eye with a handbilly, felling him. A motorman on an approaching Frankstown avenue car saw the deed and stopping his car, called police assistance. The two suspects were found under a car on the Allegheny Valley railroad tracks and McQuaine was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition.

CARRIE NATION PAYS TO SELL HER HATCHETS

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Sept. 25.—(Special.)—Carrie Nation ascended to the top of the city hall steps here this afternoon and after reviewing the public officers from President Roosevelt down to the police for allowing liquor to be sold, she began selling hatchets. She was immediately stopped by Chief of Police Rotter, who demanded a license to sell in the streets. She reached under her skirt, produced $2 and then got 10 times that much from the sale of hatchets in a few minutes.

EDUCATIONAL.

A BOY THAT FAILED

to make progress at a noted New England academy entered the Groff School recently with several having had similar experiences at other large schools. They were all put into Yale and other large colleges the following September without a condition, one year ahead of their former classmates, and their present standing at college is very high. Mr. Groff's experience with these boys is typical of the success he has had for 10 years.

THE GROFF SCHOOL,
222 West 72d St., New York,

now occupying the most handsome school quarters in New York, is ideal and exceptional as a boarding and day school.

No young and inexperienced teachers to experiment with students.

Absolutely individual attention, the number being strictly limited. No very young boys admitted in main school. Handsome study parlors, billiard room, electric elevator and full and free use of skating rink, bowling alleys, fencing hall, gymnasium, swimming pool, athletic field, etc.

Proper and judicious supervision of the daily life of all students of the school, but all foolish school discipline, military drill and consequent loss of time eliminated. Reopens September 28th.

Tuesday, September 26, 1905.

An indorsement was given the Republican county ticket yesterday by the so-called Lincoln party. The support is not welcomed. It will amount to very little in the way of votes and the action was taken with the hope that a few Republicans may be induced to look leniently on the Lincoln state ticket, including the Democratic Berry. The Lincoln party is simply an annex of the Democratic state machine.

An excellent suggestion was made yesterday at the semi-centennial celebration of the Pittsburgh High school. It was that the names of those students who enlisted for service in the civil war be inscribed on tablets of bronze to be placed conspicuously in the academic building. The roll of honor would contain upward of half a hundred names. Lessons of patriotism are more important than many others which are taught from the books to our boys and girls.

A remarkable exposure of insincerity was made in common council last evening. A communication from Controller Larkin condemning the Hamilton avenue award was read and a member declared Director Bigelow had expressed himself as being in entire sympathy with the controller's attitude, but when William Brand offered a resolution in the same line it was promptly voted down. Opposition to the award obviously has been intended for public consumption—not for official action. The exposure of insincerity is complete.

An idea of the increasing importance of the Alaskan trade is afforded by a glance at the business done recently by the Alaskan telegraph system, as reported to Washington by Gen. A. W. Greely, who has just returned from a tour of inspection. In the past two months tolls on commercial business have amounted to $32,000, while the cost of government business for this period exceeded $20,000. The wireless system, also, has been in operation for 15 months and not a single error has been recorded, a large number of important messages having been transmitted.

Our Democratic contemporary, the Post, objects because The Gazette mentioned the fact that Indiana's auditor was charged by Indiana's governor with gambling away state funds at Democratic National Chairman "Tom" Taggart's resort. It says there are cases nearer home demanding attention. The Gazette was not aware Taggart had any resorts in Pennsylvania, but if the Post will point them out it will give pleasure to call the attention of the police. Or if any Pennsylvania state officials have been gambling in the Democratic national chairman's Indiana resort, The Gazette is ready with the same measure of denunciation.

There is need for some explanation of the wreck at Paoli. There is no excuse for a rear end collision under the circumstances described unless it be the derangement of the switch-throwing machinery, or the temporary aberration of the operator. The interlocking system was devised for the prevention of such accidents. It is hardly conceivable an operator would take the chance of "crossing over" a local train in front of a fast express, with the latter so near he had not time to throw the switch again. Taking a chance of that kind would savor of criminal negligence.

Commander Ballington Booth's idea for "industrial departments" in connection with the work of the Volunteers of America, as outlined yesterday, is sound in principle. Too many so-called "benevolent" schemes are simply manufactories of paupers. Commander Booth would have the hungry man pay for his food in work, and the industrial department will provide the opportunity. To be sure, the man gets his square meal before he pays for it, but provision is taken to insure the performance of his promise. Tramps will steer clear of the Volunteers' headquarters, but deserving persons will gladly avail themselves of the chance to find honest employment.

Academic Discussion.

A couple of months ago the Hon. William J. Brennen gave a marvelous exhibition of the advantages of having party tickets made by committees. The plan looked good. Yesterday Mr. Brennen declared his disposition to recall the Democratic county convention to discipline the Citizens party committee, which, in Mr. Brennen's opinion, is making a botch of its job. We are sure, however, that Mr. Brennen need not go to this trouble. There is nothing the Democratic convention can do that Mr. Brennen cannot do and he can do it better. The convention last spring said this in effect when it delegated Mr. Brennen to select candidates and complete the ticket.

After two or three hours of academic discussion yesterday—the descriptive is Mr. Brennen's—the Democratic and Citizens committees agreed to meet tomorrow to try again. They did not agree on anything else. Col. Guffey and Mr. Brennen persist in the demand to have Candidate Berry's name in the Citizens' column, while Director Bigelow's committee and Controller Larkin ridicule the idea. The academic discussion included emphatic exchanges of these views, with a left-handed compliment to the controller in the nature of reading him out of the Democratic party.

This squabble is none of our affair. It is a Democratic squabble. Director Bigelow has the logical position, because without the Republican state ticket there would be not even a pretense that the whole movement is not Democratic. Col. Guffey, however, is the more candid. While the contest goes on, the general public has an opportunity to observe the material of which the fusion movement is made. In the end it matters little what decision is reached. The Democratic ticket will be defeated, whether it is put up straight in two columns or in one only.

China's Trouble-Makers.

The statement of Minister Chentung Liang Chang regarding a party of "anarchists" in his country, who oppose the adoption of whatever is good in occidental civilization, calls to mind some methods being employed to stir up the animosity of the lower classes against foreigners. For some years past this party has circulated throughout the Chinese empire a small book entitled "A Death Blow to Corrupt Doctrines," which has had much to do in increasing the anti-foreign sentiment. A great part of this book is unprintable. Some of the lies it contains would be amusing were it not for the fact that they have been the direct inspiration for the shedding of innocent blood. For instance, the book relates that when a Chinese convert to Christianity dies, the religious teachers among the foreigners eject all the friends and relatives from the house. Then they remove both the eyes of the corpse and seal up the orifices with plasters. The reason assigned for the removal of the eyes is this: From 100 pounds of Chinese lead can be extracted eight pounds of silver, but the only way to obtain this silver is by compounding lead with the eyes of Chinamen. The eyes of foreigners are useless for the purpose. It is hinted that Christian missionaries are in the habit of making away with converts in order to secure their eyes. Regarding foreign promoters, builders of railroads and other enterprises, the book states they have entered into a gigantic conspiracy to butcher the natives of China, first rendering them helpless by incantation and witchcraft.

Of course, the authors of the book do not believe a word of this nonsense, but a lasting impression is made on the credulous and uneducated, who compose the vast bulk of the population. China possesses a large class of shrewd and unscrupulous politicians who take a pride in making as much trouble as possible. Since they oppose all measures for increasing the national prosperity and standing among the nations, they may not inaptly be termed the Democratic party of China.

Bachelor Baldness.

Prof. James Horton of the University of Nebraska will go down in history as the great and good friend of married men. As the result of long and patient investigation of an abstruse subject, he is enabled to refute the slander, so freely uttered by so-called "funny men" of the public press, that the great majority of husbands are hairless, and that the few that are not are newly married and will ere long be entitled to a permanent seat in the bald-headed row. Of 200 cases of loss of hair investigated by Prof. Horton, 97 were single men, 38 married men. The others were women. It is, of course, an easy matter to twist statistics to suit any purpose, and for the sake of fairness we must admit the case for the bachelors is not quite so bad as would appear from Prof. Horton's figures. The proportion of bald bachelors to hairless husbands per 200 is not as 97 is to 38, though the former undoubtedly are in the majority. Bachelors are more apt to seek treatment for loss of hair than are married men, for they are more sensitive on the subject. Bachelors, too, generally have matrimonial plans on foot which necessitate their presenting the best possible appearance. As Prof. Horton says: "The reason why more bachelors than married men take treatment is found in the expression I so often hear: 'I would not mind growing bald if I were married.' When a man marries, grows old and has resting upon him the responsibility of winning a living for his wife and family, his personal appearance is usually a matter of secondary importance, and he bears the loss of his hair with equanimity."

When it was believed that baldness was a characteristic of married men, many theories, some satirical, some sympathetic, were advanced to account for the condition. Now that a scientist has shown how baldness and bachelorhood go together, a revision of theories is in order. In the meantime a proposition from the married men of the nation to present Prof. Horton with a substantial testimonial for his correction of a popular fallacy is in order.

State Editors.

Pittsburgh greets the Pennsylvania Editorial association, assembling in annual convention, with cordiality. It proposes to entertain the members as if they had never been here before, though a majority of them know something of the Smoky City. While entertaining these gentlemen and ladies as distinguished guests, Pittsburgh will not treat them as strangers. They are friends, everyday friends, simply come to get better acquainted.

Editors of "local newspapers"—a title by which they are distinguished from the dailies of the large cities—are influential members of their communities. They have rank and consideration at home. They are the inspiration of their several localities, the links between those localities and the great world beyond. They have much more intimate relations with their readers than have editors of the "big" dailies and they have more influence upon them. They are representative of the people of this great state, in close touch with popular thought and sentiment. It will be unwise for their entertainers to undertake to instruct them in public policies rather than to show them a "good time."

Pittsburgh has many things to show these intelligent people, things they would not see on an ordinary visit. Such things they will appreciate to the full. It is well the greater part of the courtesies to be shown take this direction. The editors are not pining to be talked to seriously, for they are in the habit of doing their own thinking. They want to see the wheels go 'round, have a jolly good rest and exchange opinions with each other. They are welcome.

Railroad Innovations.

An order for 25 high speed electric locomotives for the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, placed with the Westinghouse Company, marks progress in the much talked of "electrification of railroads." These locomotives are for main line use on express trains and are said to be the first ordered for that purpose. If they prove as economical as they will be satisfactory in other respects, we may look to see the freight trains of the same road operated by the same motive power ere long.

Suburban trains on the New York Central are being operated by electricity. The Pennsylvania has put Westinghouse locomotives on the Long Island railway. There is no doubting the convenience or economy of short passenger hauls by this power. It remains to be seen whether long passenger hauls or freight traffic can be better handled with this power. If they can, the railroads will adopt it. They are progressive. In the meantime the Lake Shore is trying gasoline motors in this state and the Union Pacific is trying them in the west. Whatever motive power is best, Pittsburgh will be able to supply the machinery in the most effective patterns.

The wife of a Chicago man testified in court he had worked just 10 days in nine years, and the court promised to let him off if he would tell how he managed to dodge labor. The man refused. The magistrate was justly disappointed for expecting to gain such a valuable secret for nothing.

A Copenhagen man is planning to spend 10 years in Greenland and asks for companions to accompany him. If he will just wait until they get through investigating in New York, he may find a number of gentlemen who will be glad to go along.

One of the amusements of the German empress, it is said, is to follow William in his hunting trips with a camera and take pictures of the slaughtered game. It is to be hoped American wives whose husbands go fishing will never adopt this idea.

The most significant feature of Mr. Bryan's trip is the fact that a country editor is able to get so prosperous under a Republican administration he thinks nothing of a year's run around the world.

Fifteen per cent of error is the record of the weather bureau. Not a bad showing, if it weren't for the fact that the error always occurs the day we want to take the children to the picnic.

ROOSEVELT AS A BOY IN THE "FATHERLAND"

It Appears That Even at a Very Early Age He Mastered All Things He Tackled.

Louis Viereck writes a very interesting story in Success about President Roosevelt's boyhood days in Germany. The anecdotes are quite typical of his present masterfulness of every subject he tackles, and they are really enjoyable. Mr. Viereck in his admirable article says: "When in the summer of 1873 the Roosevelt children were introduced to the Minkwitz family they had never spoken German, and conditions in Germany were altogether new to them. Nevertheless, they soon adapted themselves to their new environment, especially Theodore, who showed remarkable ability. A few days after his arrival Miss Minkwitz's brother came home from the University of Leipzig, at which he was studying, and told the company a German student's joke. Everybody knows how deep these are.

Picked Up Things.

"This joke must have been particularly good, for everyone laughed, most of all Teddy. Fraulein Minkwitz was greatly surprised at this, and asked him how he could understand it at all. Thereupon Teddy proceeded to repeat the whole story to her in English in a way which proved beyond a doubt that he saw the point. 'He seemed to pick things up—one did'nt know how,' she said.

Created a Sensation.

"At that time Frau Rat had in her service a good old servant girl, named Emily, who had an admirer by the name of Charles, a fact which had escaped the Minkwitz family's attention altogether, although the girl had stayed with them for some years. Theodore had been in the house but a few days when, one morning, he created a sensation by saying, 'Emilie, ich bin Karl; ich liebe Du.' ('Emily, I am Karl; I love thee!')

"He was passionately fond of books on natural science, especially Brem's 'Thierleben,' which he studied eagerly. One day he got it into his head that he must have a rat, a mole, or a hamster. When he asked Miss Minkwitz where he could get one she told him that she didn't know.

Investigated for Himself.

"The lad began to investigate for himself, and finally came back from the city swinging in triumph, like a trophy, a dead mole and a dead German marmot. He had discovered a man who had white mice for sale, and from him had procured what he wanted. He next went to work to strip the animals of their skins in the kitchen, and prepared to boil them in one of Frau Minkwitz's saucepans. But here the good Frau Rat interfered. He therefore went to the back yard, built himself a little oven from bricks, skinned the animals, and, after having boiled them, prepared them carefully, putting together skilfully all the parts of the skeleton."

Artifical Gas Holds Its Own.

The development of any new illuminating process appears not to affect the demand for light in other forms. The electric light, both arc and incandescent, has been added to gas rather than substituted for it. More gas has been burned, in proportion to the population of American cities, since Brush and Edison made their discoveries than formerly. The use of oil for lamps increases, notwithstanding gas, electricity, acetylene gas, and devices such as the incandescent burner, which produce far more light with a given quantity of illuminating fluid.—Cleveland Leader.

Some Salty Information.

Salt is so common an article that one is astonished when he realizes the amount of it produced in the United States during the year 1904. The number of barrels was 22,060,602, valued at $6,021,222. In spite of this enormous output, coming mostly from New York and Michigan, the United States imported salt to the value of over half a million dollars and exported 25,508,577 pounds, valued at $99,066. The deposits of salt in the United States are not numerous, those in New York, Michigan, Ohio, Kansas and Louisiana being the only ones which are worked commercially.—Boston Herald.

Has Business Capacity.

Kansas has a negro farmer who is rated a millionaire. His name is Groves, he hails from Grovetown and practically owns the town. He laid the foundations of his fortune raising potatoes, but he is now a banker and president of telephone, electric road and other corporations. He takes a very modest view of himself and of his success; nevertheless, he stands out as an illustration of the fact that the negro has business capacity.—Baltimore American.

Suppressed Identity Obvious.

We are informed by the Democratic press that Mr. Berry, the Bryanite candidate for state treasurer, is receiving letters from "scores" of "leading Republicans" "pledging him their hearty support." The identity of these "Republicans" is not disclosed, for obvious reasons. As a rule, however, the letterwriting citizen is not a very dangerous antagonist at the polls. Besides, what are "scores" of bolters in the face of the Republican majority of half a million?—Harrisburg Telegram.

A New Kansas Story.

Kansas is proud of its corn crop. New stories are printed in the state papers daily, to show its wonders. Here is a little fable from a Kansas City paper: "I never would have believed that Kansas was so heavily timbered," said an Easterner, who was riding through the state on a Santa Fe train the other day. "Guess you all bettah look agin, boss," said the porter as he glanced out of the window. "That's cawn, an' you all's got about a hundred miles of it to go through."

Took the Same View.

"Some whisky is better than others," said the Kentucky colonel, "but all whisky is good." The Congregational ministers, except Dr. Gladden, seem to have taken about the same view of money.—Kansas City Journal.

This Is Tough, Indeed.

Philadelphia is finding out what the rest of the world thinks of her administration. A leper refused to stay in the Municipal hospital on account of its unsanitary condition.—Washington Post.

"So you ran across dat millionaire when you was goin' down de road," said Meandering Mike.

"Yes," answered Plodding Pete.

"Any conversation?"

"No. We jes' exchanged thoughts. I was wishin' I had his money an' he was wishin' he had my appetite."—Washington Star.

"Why do you suppose so many people say they like to listen to the rain?"

"Stupid! Because the rain is such an eavesdropper."—Baltimore American.

WHITWELL MAY BE HERO OF ROMANCE

Possible That Young Harvard Student Sacrificed Liberty to Save a Woman's Name.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Friends of William Scollay Whitwell, who disappeared mysteriously on February 6, 1903, are wondering if the young college student is the man who went to Sing Sing to shield a woman's reputation. Carl Fisher-Hansen, the lawyer who gave out the story several weeks ago of the remarkable self-sacrifice of the mysterious undergraduate, refuses to discuss the case until he has laid the facts before Gov. Higgins as the first step toward the liberation of the student, who is guiltless of any crime that would warrant his imprisonment in a New York state prison. The governor returned from Europe on Saturday and it is possible that the lawyer will see the chief executive within the next few days. The acquaintances of William Scollay Whitwell point out that he was a student at Harvard and that he dropped from sight within the period named in the dramatic story told by Mrs. Fischer-Hansen. The young man was in his senior year, and came to this city apparently to visit his parents, who lived at 37 West Eleventh street. He arrived on the Fall River line boat on the morning of February 7, 1903, but never reached his home, and has, it is said, not been seen since. Mrs. Whitwell and her family live at present at 15 West Nineteenth street. Whitwell's parents became greatly alarmed and every effort was made to find the missing man. He was a candidate for the Harvard football team, and was an all-round athlete, and one of the most popular members of his class. Among his classmates he was known as a very honorable man, and if he had been caught in such a predicament as that detailed in the story of the lawyer, his friends say he would have chosen to go to prison rather than compromise the woman in the case.

"As a Man Sows."

It happened that the other afternoon, when Nat Goodwin hurried into the Victoria to settle a little personal difficulty with young Carter DeHaven, Robert Hilliard was on the stage appearing in his new one-act piece, "As a Man Sows." Three days after the fracas Hilliard, much to his amazement, received the following telegram from Hot Springs, Va., whither Goodwin had gone to recover from the effects of the failure of "Beauty and the Barge: "Dear Bob," it ran, "please make official denial for me of all these ridiculous stories in morning papers." But as Mr. Hilliard knew nothing of the incident, except what he had read, and as there was no earthly reason why he should be brought into the matter, he sent a return telegram as follows: "Dear Nat—'As a Man Sows.'—Bob."

Jerome's Workers Get Busy.

A score or more of notaries, sent by the Jerome East Side volunteers, are scouring their part of the town today to secure signatures to the petition for the independent nomination of William Travers Jerome to succeed himself as district attorney. Many of the lists are already headed with the names of East Side merchants, bank officials and physicians. The coming of the notaries was heralded by the broadcast distribution of cards issued from the headquarters of the volunteers at No. 272 Grand street. The cards bear the "square" which has been adopted as the Jerome ballot emblem.

"Workingmen's College" to Open.

More than 2,000 lectures appear on the announcement just issued of the public lecture course arranged by the board of education. The coming season is the eighteenth and the total stated represents those provided for the first session, covering October, November and December. Attendance at the lectures is limited to adults, and the experience of past years has shown that it is the workingmen and the working women of the city who take advantage of this means of education. This year the system will be extended by the opening of four new centers.

Emma Goldman in New Line.

From the more or less exalted position of the "princess of anarchy" to the humble vocation of a ladies' hair dresser is quite a leap, but nevertheless report has it that Emma Goldman, the leading feminine "Red," has opened up a shop on Broadway and from now on will lead the humdrum existence of arranging "milady's" coiffure. In ordinary garb, wearing heelless shoes and with her light hair parted in the middle and tied in the old-fashioned knot at the back, she has combs, brushes, etc., ready and is anxiously awaiting customers.

New Honor for George Washington.

The North German Lloyd has departed from its custom of calling a new ship after a European monarch or his family, and will christen its latest leviathan after "the father of his country." Announcement of the decision to call a 17,000-ton vessel to be built the "Washington," was made today. The construction of the Washington has just begun at the Teckienburg shipyards, Bremerhaven, and she will be completed late in 1907. It is the first instance in which a big line has used the name Washington.

President's Uncle in Bad Company.

The leaders of the various Democratic city organizations have asked the Hon. Robert B. Roosevelt, uncle of President Roosevelt, to serve as temporary or permanent chairman of the Democratic city convention which will be held in Carnegie hall on Thursday evening, October 5. An answer from Mr. Roosevelt is expected in a day or two. The organization of the convention will be agreed on before the end of the week. The orator who will place Mayor McClellan in nomination has not been selected.

The Young Man's Danger.

The young man, of course, with exceptions, has his own way to make. This is a considerable task. It is enough without the burden of indigestible counsel that is thrown to him. The attempt to assimilate which tends to clog his natural intelligence. In the effort he may neglect the promptings of his own common sense and fail to heed his own conscience.—Philadelphia Ledger.

SOME GOOD STORIES OF PITH AND MOMENT

Gossipy Chat and Anecdote of Entertaining and Instructive Character.

Sigourney Butler, the noted Boston lawyer and society man, who died a few years ago, told the following story at a dinner party:

"I met a friend the other day who had been on a fishing trip with Bishop Brooks. I asked him if the bishop caught any fish, and he said: 'No, he swears too much.'

"'Why,' I said, 'Bishop Brooks never swears.'

"'Oh, yes, he does,' said my friend. 'I caught a large fish, and said, "Bishop, that's a —— good fish,' and he said, 'Yes, it is,' in response."'—Cleveland Leader.

A Betting Proposition.

"Some years ago," says Representative Caines of Tennessee, "a drunken loafer staggered into a country tavern in the mountains near Nashville, and asked to stay all night. The landlord at first refused to accommodate him, saying that there were four or five Methodist preachers in the house, and he did not wish to have them disturbed. The weather was very cold, and the fellow begged so hard that the landlord yielded after exacting a promise that he would be quiet.

"After supper the drunken fellow took his seat by the fire with his elbows on his knees and his head in his hands. In this position he sat for an hour listening to the ministers talk. One of them, a young fellow, paced the floor and boasted about what he could do in the way of building up churches, saying that he had always found his wife a great help to him.

"'A good wife is a blessing from heaven,' put in one of the other ministers.

"'That is true,' answered the young minister, 'and I married one of the Lord's children.'

"The drunken fellow, who had not moved from his position, slowly raised his head and said:

"'Stranger, by Gad, I'll bet yer my horses you'll never see your father-in-law.'"—Baltimore Sun.

Chemistry of Lot's Wife.

Some eight years ago Prof. Appleton of Brown university, was noted, among the college students of Providence for his fondness of being asked original questions in his specialty, chemistry. And many a time he did, offhand, settle the doubts and clear away the difficulties of his admiring pupils.

One morning, however, the professor was put to his wits' end by the following query of a precocious freshman: "What two-fold chemical change did Lot's wife undergo?"

Prof. Appleton hesitated, surrendered, and finally asked the questioner for his answer. Thereupon, with the most winsome naivete, came the reply: "She turned to rubber and then turned to salt."—Boston Transcript.

Chose the Lesser Evil.

The late William Terrica, seeing a novel car covering which was recommended for the cold weather, bought it, and gave it to his old coachman, who could thus protect himself while waiting for Mr. Terries at night. The coachman was profuse in his gratitude; but a night or two later Mr. Terries noticed that he was not wearing the muffler. "Why have you given it up so soon?" he asked. "Well, sir," was the man's reply, "it was werry comfortable, but you see, sir, I found out t'other night that when I 'ad my ears covered a friend 'a asked me to 'ave a drink, and I'd never 'eard 'im!"—London News.

Awoke in Time to Vote.

Rev. Silas Gordon was a well-known Episcopalian minister in Saco, Maine, and his Sunday sermons, familiar and practical, always drew large congregations. On one Sunday morning in particular, a dozen years ago, he had in his audience Charles Greene, a drummer, who hailed from Lowell, who had promised his wife, intensely religious, that each Sunday while on the road he would assist at some religious service.

Faithful to his promise, he left his hotel at Saco and followed a crowd of worshipers to Parson Gordon's church. From the excessive heat of the week and from his arduous labors he was quite fatigued. The sermon had begun; the minister had quoted his text, but it was not long before Greene was seen to nod and fall into a deep slumber. The discourse became gradually more powerful and effective, but it was all lost on Greene. It was on "The Great Hereafter: Heaven or Hell."

Toward the finish the parson directed all to arise who were in favor of going to heaven. Of course all arose except Greene. When they had resumed their places he asked all to stand up who wished to go to hell. The noise made by the people arising and sitting awoke Greene, and up he stood in answer to the parson's request. The parson and audience were dazed.

"Young man," screamed the parson, "do you know what you are voting on?"

"I must say that I don't," answered Greene, "but whatever it is, you and I are in a very small minority."

The congregation chuckled, the parson was dazed and hurriedly left the pulpit.—Boston Transcript.

A Curious Custom.

In some parts of the Tyrol a beautiful though curious custom prevails. When a girl is going to be married and just before she leaves for the church her mother gives her a handkerchief, which is called a tearkerchief. It is made of newly-spun and unused linen, and with it the girl dries the natural tears she sheds on leaving home. The tearkerchief is never used after the marriage day, but is folded up and placed in the linen closet, where it remains till its owner's death, when it is taken from its place and spread over her face.—Rochester Union.

Only One Can Get There.

The vacancy in the chairmanship of appropriations committee of the house is a godsend in the shape of advertising. About half of the Republicans elected are "among those mentioned" for the place.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Pennsylvania Gives Encouragement.

A Pennsylvania farmer, 70 years old, is cutting his wisdom teeth. There is still hope for the average New York taxpayer.—New York Herald.

THE GIRL WHO SMILES.

The wind was nait and the chimney smoked
And the old brown house seemed dreary,
For nobody smiled and nobody joked,
The young folks grumbled, the old folks croaked—
They had come home chilled and weary.

Then opened the door and a girl came in.
Oh, she was homely—very!
Her nose was pug and her cheek was thin;
There wasn't a dimple from brow to chin;
But her smile was bright and cheery.

She spoke not a word of the cold and damp,
Nor yet of the gloom about her;
But she mended the fire and lighted the lamp,
And she put on the place a different stamp
From that it had without her.

Her dress (which was something in sober brown
And with dampness nearly dripping)
She changed for a bright, warm, crimson gown,
And she looked so gay when she came down
They forgot the air was nipping.

They forgot that the house was a dull old place
And weeks from home to valley,
And gloom departed from every face
As they felt the charm of her youthful grace
And the cheer of her happy laughter.

Oh, give me the girl who will smile and sing
And make all that together
To be plain or fair is a trifling thing
But a kind, unselfish heart can bring
Good cheer in the darkest weather.

STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIES

Interesting Happenings Concerning the People Who Are Traveling.

Carrie Nation was in the city for a short time yesterday evening. She arrived from Uniontown and is en route to Guthrie, Oklahoma, where she says she is going to investigate local option conditions. Carrie was always interested in the importance of Pittsburgh and never misses an opportunity to show her appreciation. A huge Italian smoking up and down the long stairway between the Smithfield and the Liberty avenue approach was contentedly smoking a long-stemmed pipe when Carrie saw him. With a quick uppercut she sent the pipe flying to the pavement, where it smashed. The man from sunny Italy was dumbfounded, but apparently understood some of the many things Carrie said about smokers.

A man at the lunch counter in the Union station was drinking a bottle of beer. Carrie smashed it off and wanted to know where they sold intoxicants in the station. She was told to go to the restaurant.

"Do you sell intoxicating liquors here?" she asked of the head waiter.

"Yes, madam; what can I get you?"

Carrie handed him a slap in the face and was immediately requested by Officer McCray to leave the place. She did, at the same time expressing her disgust with the sinfulness of men who drink. After buying a lunch at a Liberty street cafe she took a train for the west.

New Hotel to Open Soon.

Frank A. Brebat, former owner of the Hotel Lincoln, arrived here last night from Canada, where he has been fishing for several weeks. Accompanying him was his brother, B. H. Brebat. The latter, who is to be assistant manager of the new Fort Pitt hotel at Tenth street and Penn avenue, announced that the big hostelry would be opened to the public on October 15. Frank Brebat goes to New York, where he will engage in the hotel business.

To Meet in Quaker City.

C. E. Peterman, secretary of the Hotel Proprietors and Restaurant Keepers' association of Pennsylvania, went to Philadelphia over the Pennsylvania last night to arrange for the convention to be held in the Quaker city. Plans had been made to meet on November 2, but because of other conventions and lack of hotel accommodations at that time a postponement was necessary. The convention will likely be held late in November.

LINCOLN PARTY CANNOT HELP IT

Indorses Republican County Ticket Because of Character and Manner of Selection.

FUSIONISTS STILL AT ODDS

The Lincoln party's county executive committee yesterday indorsed the Republican county ticket. The character of the Republican nominees is so high, and the method by which they were nominated, a free and open vote of all Republicans, in regularly called primaries, appealed to the Lincoln party as so fair, that that organization, although organized to oppose the election of a Republican candidate on the state ticket, felt that it could not do otherwise than indorse the Republican candidates for county offices.

These views were expressed by Harry S. Paul, the chairman of the Lincoln party in this county. He said it seemed wise to indorse the Republican ticket because of its character. It was stated that because it was nominated at an open primary, in which many thousands of Republicans participated, the Republican ticket was preferable to the fusion ticket.

The Citizens and Democrats have not yet agreed on the fusion ticket. They discussed the matter for an hour yesterday, and another meeting of the two committees on vacancies has been called for tomorrow. The Democrats want the Citizens to indorse the candidacy of William H. Berry, their nominee for state treasurer, or to indorse no candidate; but the Citizens, posing as Republicans, insist that it is better policy for them to put the Republican nominee, J. Lee Plummer, on their ticket, with the rest of the Republican candidates.

Brennen Resorts to Diplomacy.

William J. Brennen, one of the Democratic committeemen, was spokesman for the conferees, and made it appear that the meeting was a sort of love feast and that the question whether to have Plummer or Berry on the Citizens ticket was discussed only casually. Mr. Brennen said the Democrats did not demand that the Citizens indorse Berry. "All we did," said he, "was to talk about the ticket, its probability of success and the policy we ought to follow. Everything was perfectly friendly, and there was no such thing as an ultimatum."

From other sources, however, it was learned that, while it is probable the Democrats will give way to the Citizens, as they have done for the last three years, yet the Citizens conferees were made to thoroughly understand that Col. James M. Guffey, the Democratic state leader and one of the conferees, was emphatic in his belief that the Citizens ought to indorse Berry, and that such indorsement would redound to the benefit of the fusion county ticket, as well as to that of the Democratic candidate for state treasurer. Mr. Brennen made a learned argument to show the Citizens that their fear that an indorsement of Berry would keep them out of the Republican primaries at some future time was unfounded. "For," said Mr. Brennen, "the Republican rule is that no man can vote at primaries unless he voted the Republican ticket at the last state or national election; but that means he must have voted for the head of the ticket. Plummer is not the head of the ticket, for Judge Stewart is the candidate for a higher office. Edward M. Bigelow, one of the Citizens committee, listened indulgently to Mr. Brennen's argument, but it failed to impress Mr. Bigelow and his colleagues.

Larkin Favors Citizens' Plans.

Controller John B. Larkin, although a Democrat, argued against putting the Democratic state candidate on the Citizens ticket. He said that in common fairness the Citizens ought to be allowed to indorse the Republican state candidates if they wished; that the Citizens claimed to be Republicans, and it was only consistent in them to name Republican state candidates.

Mr. Larkin was the only one of the Democratic committeemen who sided with the Citizens, and it is said that he stood with them, not necessarily because of his recently acquired affection for E. M. Bigelow, but because he really thinks it is only fair to the Citizens to let them have their own state ticket. James A. Clark, the Democratic candidate for county commissioner, stood with Guffey and Brennen, and Harry Meyer, another candidate on the ticket, he and Clark also being Democratic conferees, was non-committal—saying he was ready to agree to whatever the conferees decided was the wisest policy.

After having discussed the Plummer-Berry question, the Democrats sprung their other proposition, to the effect that the Citizens indorse no candidate for state treasurer. That is the alternative suggestion made by Col. Guffey to the City party in Philadelphia. The conferees discussed this question, too, but the Citizens refused to listen to it. They said the failure to indorse Plummer would shut them out of the Republican primaries in Allegheny county, just as effectually as if they indorsed Berry outright.

May Reconvene Convention.

The conferees parted agreeing to meet again tomorrow. All sorts of influences are at work, either trying to induce Col. Guffey to recede from his stand, or working up some of the Democratic committee to refuse to stand by him. Col. Guffey, sanguine as ever, feels that there is a chance of the election of Berry.

Clark and Brennen have the power to convene the Democratic convention and upset the whole fusion program by nominating a full Democratic county ticket. Whether Col. Guffey will go so far as to demand this of them could not be learned, but he is so earnest in the matter that such action is not improbable.

The members of the Citizens party committee on vacancies present at the conference were Mr. Bigelow, Mayor Hays, D. F. Collingwood, E. J. McIlvain, Max Blumenthal and John A. Snee.

Chairman Thomas J. Ford of the Republican county committee and the Republican county candidates will meet at the Republican headquarters on Thursday to discuss the coming campaign. Chairman Ford believes in making a vigorous campaign and discussing all issues.

Science In Selecting Proper Foods

People Are Hot, Uncomfortable, Unhealthy, Because They Do Not Eat the Right Food.

Scientists have determined that the various food elements found in wheat are the identical elements of which the tissues and cells, the bone and brain, the blood and muscle of the human body are composed and with which they must be replenished if life and strength are to be maintained.

Every nutritive element, every one of those marvelous strength and tissue-building food qualities of the best white wheat grown is found in Malta-Vita. This famous food is the whole of the wheat, thoroughly steamed and cooked in absolute purity and mixed with the finest malt extract that can be made.

In these days of adulterated foods and food products such a food as is known to be pure and wholesome is indeed welcome. We have heard of many breakfast foods and cereal products—some broadly advertised as whole products, others as cure-alls for every disease known to man. No doubt they are all good and possessed of some merit, but most of them are manufactured with some foreign sweetening agent to make them palatable. Among all the breakfast cereal foods offered the public today, we believe we are warranted in saying that Malta-Vita is the only food that is simply and wholly pure grain product and nothing else, except a little salt. Malta-Vita as it comes to you from the factory is all of the wheat. It has been thoroughly cleaned, steamed to gelatinize the starch, then added to it is barley malt made from selected barley—this, acting upon the starch, turns it into maltose or malt sugar, pronounced by physicians and food experts the finest, purest, most healthful sweetening known. Then the grain of wheat rolled out flat into a thin wafer-like flake and baked in the ovens. It comes to you fresh and pure and sweet—absolutely not a bit but a grain product prepared in the cleanest and most wholesome way and turned into the most delicious whole wheat food that can be found. Malta-Vita is for sale by nearly all grocers. It costs but 10 cents a package for the same big package for which you used to pay fifteen cents.

THREAT MADE BY MAYOR WEAVER

City Employes Must Fight Republican Organization or Lose Their Jobs.

ANDREWS MAKES A DENIAL

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Press Building, PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25.

Mayor Weaver is trying to prevent the indorsement of the Republican county ticket by the Republican ward committees. The mayor today outlined his program to councilmen who have supported him; also to city employes who are expected to assist in the effort to overthrow the present Republican organization. Many members of the ward committees are on the municipal payroll. They have been informed that they cannot remain unless they vote against the formal resolution to indorse the Republican ticket.

Mayor Weaver is evidently not familiar with the rules governing the Republican organization of Philadelphia, which provide that any member of a ward committee who votes against the indorsement of Republican candidates, duly nominated, by such action loses membership in said committee. Under these circumstances it is not known whether Mayor Weaver will persist in enforcing his order.

David H. Lane made a sensational speech at today's meeting of the Republican city committee. He said in view of the fact that Wanamaker, Weaver and Gordon controlled all but one Philadelphia newspapers, and that the papers so controlled would not print the truth about political matters, the members of the city committee must get out among the people and explain to them the real situation. Mr. Lane was cheered and the members promised to follow his advice. It was also decided to begin the campaign at once. J. Hampton Moore, ex-city treasurer, has been placed in charge of the speakers' bureau, and nightly meetings will be held from now until election.

The Prohibition city party held its convention tonight. It indorsed its own state ticket and the City party's local candidates. A meeting of the Union League will be called for the purpose of taking action on the political situation. The call was framed by those friendly to Mayor Weaver, who object to the action taken by the "Committee of Twenty-one," which selected the candidates on the new Republican county ticket. A nice row is probable and the outcome is not safe to predict.

Mayor Weaver's friends seem to be uneasy over the proposed councilmanic investigation. Since being informed that he would simply have the status of any other witness summoned, and that Judge Gordon, his attorney, would not be permitted to interfere, an effort has been made to discredit the committee in advance of its sittings.

Republican leaders say that neither of these committees have any more legal right of representation, by counsel, at the councilmanic inquiry, than they would have in a divorce or murder trial; that they know this, and are inviting refusal for political reasons, expecting to make capital from them.

Col. W. R. Andrews, Republican state chairman, tonight said:

"I most emphatically deny the statements made by Mr. Castle."

CHESTER D. POTTER.

ASSOCIATION STARS WIN AT BRADDOCK, 5 TO 4

An All Star team of Louisville defeated the Braddock team yesterday 5 to 4. It was a loosely played game on the part of Braddock players, who outhit the visitors and would have won save for a wild throw by Sandherr on the play that would have retired the side in the ninth inning. Two men scored on the wild throw. The same teams play again today. Score:

Marshall Fails Once More to Win.

NUREMBURG, GERMANY, Sept. 25.—The sixth game of the chess match of eight games up was begun by Tarrasch this morning. Play was resumed in the evening and continued until nearly midnight. Throughout the evening session neither side was able to make any headway, and after the exchange of several pieces the players considered further fighting useless and agreed upon a draw. Seventy moves were made. The score now stands: Tarrasch 2, Marshall 0, drawn 4.

PRESBYTERIANS HOLD THE FIRST SESSION

Fall Meeting Being Held at Vandergrift—Sermon by the Retiring Moderator—Popular Meeting.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

VANDERGRIFT, PA., Sept. 25.—The first day's session of the fall meeting of the Blairsville presbytery was held this afternoon in the First Presbyterian church here. A sermon was preached by the retiring moderator and routine business was transacted. The Rev. J. F. Clokey of Braddock was elected moderator for the coming year.

An evangelistic conference was conducted by the Rev. J. N. Armstrong. Addresses were made by the Rev. Dr. R. Laird Smith on "Before the Revival, What?" the Rev. Dr. Henry Bain, on "The Burden for Souls," and the Rev. William L. Barrett on "Going After the Individual."

This evening a popular meeting in the interest of the evangelistic effort was held, Moderator Clokey presiding. The principal address was by the Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young of Pittsburgh, on "Ceaseless Powers for Ceaseless Evangelism." His text was "And lo, I am with you." There are 70 delegates to the presbytery present. The meetings will continue till tomorrow evening.

WILL ISSUE BONDS.

Erie Publishes Plans to Finance Purchase Control of the C., H. & D. Railroad.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(Special.)—Erie railroad interests today made public the plans that have been adopted for financing the recent purchase of control of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroad. The company will issue $10,000,000 of convertible 4 per cent bonds, $50,000,000 of which were authorized in December, 1903. A syndicate has already been formed to underwrite the new issue.

These bonds, which are offered to shareholders at par, will be convertible into common stock at $60 per share. The stock, which last week sold as high as 62, closed today at 60.

Only $10,000,000 of the original authorized amount have been disposed of. They sold in 1903, the terms of conversion being at the rate of $50 a share. The outstanding convertible is have been selling recently at more than 112.

George Ade's New Comedy Presented.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Sept. 25.—A light comedy by George Ade, "Just Out of College," with Joseph Wheelock, Jr., as the star, was given its first performance at the Hyperion theater tonight. The piece is in three acts and deals with industrial conditions, in this instance more particularly the pickle packing business. The company is under the direction of Mr. Charles Frohman. The play was well received.

His Majestys Theater to Close.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—After the curtain fell tonight at His Majestys theater on the last act of "Oliver Twist," Beerbohm Tree announced that owing to the appearance of a crack in the proscenium arch, which had been discovered a few hours before, the theater would be closed for the present and the play transferred to the Waldorf theater. The announcement was a complete surprise, as His Majestys theater was opened only eight years ago.

The Death Roll

Mrs. Ellen Curts Gross.

After years of devotion and labor in the nursing of her husband and family of eight children, all of whom are dead, Mrs. Ellen Curts Gross, widow of Charles A. Gross, died Sunday at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Elmyra Marshall, 528 Wineheidie street. Mrs. Gross is the last of the family to die. Her husband died over 15 years ago, since which time her family of eight children have died, the last death being that of her daughter, Mazie, who died three weeks ago. The death of her daughter materially hastened Mrs. Gross' death as she was lying ill with malarial fever at the time. This is the third death to occur in the household of Mrs. Marshall within three months, Mrs. Elizabeth Kelly, a cousin, who made her home with her, having died three months ago. Mrs. Gross was born in this city 80 years ago, and lived here all her life. Thirty-six years ago she married Charles A. Gross. She is survived by her sister, Mrs. Marshall, and one brother, Henry Curtis, of this city. She was a member of the Thirty-third Street Presbyterian church. Funeral services will be held from her sister's residence this afternoon at 3 p. m. and will be in charge of the Rev. H. H. Marlin, pastor of the Fourth United Presbyterian church. The interment will be in the Allegheny cemetery.

Mrs. Charles Beeson.

Mrs. Alice Mills Beeson, wife of Charles Beeson, a passenger engineer running the fast line on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, died last night at her home, 729 Murray avenue, McKees Rocks. Besides her husband she leaves the following children: Laura M., Sarah J., Charles, Alice L., Helen, Florence and Richard Beeson. Two brothers, Edward and Harry Mills, engineers on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, and one sister, Mrs. Johnston of New Brighton, also survive. She was a member of the Presbyterian church.

William H. Leahy, Sr.

William H. Leahy, Sr., died yesterday at 4:40 p. m. at his residence, Wilkins avenue and Wightman street, after an illness of about a year. He was born in Bayardstown, now known as the Ninth ward. He was formerly a well-known business man of this city, but retired from active business about 11 years ago. Mr. Leahy is survived by his widow and three sons, P. M. Leahy and James J. Leahy, real estate brokers, and W. H. Leahy, Jr., attorney, all of whom reside in this city.

Mrs. Mary Ward Loughrey.

Mrs. Mary Ward Loughrey, aged , died Sunday at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Noble, 12 Dunmoyle place, East End. She was born in this city, where she had lived all her life. Her husband was William Loughrey, who was connected with the firm of Clark, Thaw & Co. She had been a member of the Third Presbyterian church until recently, when she joined the Bellefield Presbyterian church. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Mary Ward, one daughter, Mrs. Noble, a sister, Miss Marjorie Ward, and a brother, Samuel Ward, of the South Side.

Obituary Notes.

Mrs. William Rankin, aged 22 years, died yesterday at Sharon after an extended illness. One child survives.

Mrs. Ellen Tolan, aged 56, of Bell avenue, North Braddock, wife of Patrick Tolan, died yesterday morning from bronchitis.

Albert G. Miller of Uniontown, a contractor, aged 46 years, died suddenly yesterday morning from heart trouble. He leaves a widow and five children.

Mrs. Susan Armbrust, wife of J. W. Armbrust of Greensburg, died yesterday morning. She was 57 years old and leaves eight children besides her husband.

John Shaw, aged 90 years, is dead at his home in Lawrence county. He was unmarried and lived with a nephew. He spent his entire life in that county and was a well-known farmer.

Mrs. Racahel Buch, aged 88 years, is dead at her home in Uniontown. She was the widow of James L. Bugh. Mrs. Bugh was a charter member of the First Methodist Protestant church of Uniontown.

table linens

Given financial ability and business acumen there's no reason why any store shouldn't show the extensive variety of Table Linens to be found here—and sell them for prices as low—but you'll see yourself they don't. It's not thought necessary—our experience has proven it's best even if not necessary.

That's all.

New Fall Linens have arrived direct from the manufacturers—you're invited to inspect and be convinced this Linen Department is where you can buy your Linens at less prices.

"hoosier" kitchen cabinets—step savers

Of all the labor-saving devices now in daily use, none more directly affects the housekeeper than the Kitchen Cabinet—a comparatively recent production.

Whereas supplies and cooking utensils were formerly kept in cellars and pantries, it's now possible to keep everything directly in reach without moving about much—and know well where anything you may wish is—for everything has a place in a Kitchen Cabinet.

Especially a boon to those who live in apartment houses, where kitchen space is necessarily limited.

Takes the place of a table, pantry and linen closet.

Just as in every other line, some one person or concern has done better than anyone else—the Hoosier Cabinets after a careful and thorough investigation have demonstrated that they are the best now made in the world.

Better and less priced.

The $16.00 Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet looks as well and is in every way more serviceable and convenient than other Cabinets at $25.00—we know because we've sold others and lately discarded them for the Hoosier.

Two finishes—Golden Oak and Bog Oak—to harmonize with the woodwork of the modern kitchen.

Prices $11.00, $16.00, $20.00 and $33.00.

Owners of apartment buildings and flats and housekeepers will find a complete selection in our third floor House Furnishings Department.

An excellent thing to give a couple just going to housekeeping.

Come and let us explain fully their merits.

Sale of something so good that it's worth our while to advertise—and worth while to come for.

10,000 yards of 12½c and 15c double-width Fleeced Wrapper Goods, 10c.

This is the best offering of good everyday goods that's been made here in 1905—right at the time when every family wants more or less of them.

Great variety of light and dark, neat, medium and larger patterns.

Don't miss the great Creatore and his wonderful orchestra at Exposition this week.

EXPOSE TRICK IN CITY COUNCILS

Citizens Forced to Take Stand and Defeat the Hamilton Avenue Repeal.

BIGELOW AND LARKIN GAME

A campaign trick of the city administration was neatly exposed in common council last night by the Republican members, when they forced the issue on the extension of Hamilton avenue, and the Citizens party majority openly refused to take any action to repeal the award of the viewers, who compel the city to pay $275,000 for the improvement, while the abutting property owners pay only $41,000. This award Controller Larkin has condemned as "odious," "absurd," "an outrage" and "a scandal."

Apparently to make political capital for himself and the administration to which he belongs, Controller Larkin advocated the repeal of the ordinance for the extension of Hamilton avenue and had denounced the award of the board of viewers in unmeasured terms. Mr. Larkin sent a lengthy communication to common council last night on the subject of Hamilton avenue, but it was very tame in comparison with his previous utterances. Two-thirds of the communication were quotations from his annual reports.

Citizens Defeat Repeal.

The controller yesterday stated he would not present a repealing ordinance to councils and this gave rise to suspicion. This suspicion was strengthened by the remark of Director Bigelow's that he and the controller were in perfect accord about the matter.

After the reading of the controller's letter in common council C. W. Hehnold said he had talked with Director Bigelow during the day and the director said he heartily concurred with the controller. J. J. McKelvey, a Bigelow member, moved that the controller's communication be received and filed, and this was carried with an amendment by A. G. Roenigk that it be spread upon the minutes.

Then William Brand sprung a surprise by presenting the following resolution and asking for its adoption:

Whereas, In the proceedings for the opening of Hamilton avenue the board of viewers are reported to have assessed the sum of $275,000 against the city of Pittsburgh, and,

Whereas, The improvement is not of that character where the cost should be assessed against the city at large, but is purely of local benefit, and

Whereas, To saddle the city at large with the cost of making said improvement would be an act of gross injustice, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the clerk of common council shall be and is hereby instructed to draw up an ordinance for presentation at the next meeting of this body for the repeal of the ordinance authorizing the location and opening of Hamilton avenue.

To Annex West Liberty.

Mr. McKelvey moved to lay the resolution on the table and his motion was carried, the resolution being tabled by a vote of 23 1-3 to 12, the Citizens voting solidly in the affirmative and the Republicans, with the exception of John F. Semmelrock, voting in the negative.

Select council held its first session yesterday afternoon since the summer vacation, the meeting being brief and adjourning to enable the members to attend the baseball game. Samuel J. Wainwright, Jr., secured an indefinite postponement of the ordinance for the vacation of Morningside avenue from Butler street to the Allegheny Valley railroad. This kills the bill for the present term of councils.

Fearing popular opposition to the scheme in Aspinwall, Director Bigelow had postponed the ordinance for the annexation of the borough to Pittsburgh. The ordinance was laid over until the next meeting at the request of P. J. Barry.

Ordinances were introduced for the annexation of the borough of West Liberty and the Second and Sixth election districts of Chartiers township. The petition for the annexation of West Liberty was filed in court in April, 1904, and that for the two districts of Chartiers township in April, 1905.

Using Fire-Boat Money.

Director Moore proposes to use $8,000 of the fire-boat fund for the erection of the Eighteenth ward engine house, a resolution being introduced which adds this amount to the $15,000 already appropriated for the engine house.

The repairs of the Point bridge will cost the city $11,000 more than the amount named in the contract. The contract was let to the Pittsburgh Construction Company for $32,000. The sum of $37,500 has already been paid the company, and a resolution introduced yesterday provides for the payment of $5,679.44, more for extra work, making the total cost $103,179.44.

A resolution to pay the James H. McQuade Company $1,037.70 for repairs to the Fifth avenue sewer, near Ehn street, was introduced.

Dr. Walters introduced his new anti-spitting ordinance. It provides for each offense a penalty of $5 and in default of fine commitment in the county jail for 10 days or 30 days in the workhouse.

Among the bills passed were the ordinances for the widening of Second avenue from the South Tenth street bridge to Ross street, and for the relocation and regrading of Second avenue from Allegheny street to the city line, Twenty-third ward.

About 50 ordinances were not considered by council in the haste of the members to adjourn before 3:30 o'clock to attend the ball game.

GAS ENGINES FOR NEW ROAD.

Will Be Used as Part of Equipment for Electric Line in Armstrong County.

As an evidence of their intention of pushing along with the construction of the Pittsburgh & Allegheny Valley street railway, which is to run from New Kensington to Apollo, through Vandergrift, Leechburg and other populous territory, the board of directors yesterday awarded the contract for three big gas engines with which to operate the plant. The contract goes to Clark Bros.' Company of Belmont, N. Y., with offices in the House building, this city. It amounts to a little over $60,000.

Two of the engines are of 600-horse power and a third is 250-horse power, and all are directly connected to large electric dynamos in the power plant. The road will be 25 miles long and the contractors are now at work on eight miles of the roadbed, in the vicinity of New Kensington. The road was incorporated less than a year ago, and most of the officers live outside of Pittsburgh. The contractors for the gas engines have been authorized to use haste in their construction, and one portion of the work will be completed by January 1. The rest will be finished as speedily as possible.

EDITORS IN CONTROVERSY.

Italian Newspapermen Have Strenuous Time Over Benefit Dinner for Earthquake Sufferers

The recent earthquake in Italy has had its effect here. To relieve the sufferers abroad a benefit dinner was planned. Two Italian papers differed on the proposition. Editor Salvator Perez de Vera of the Nostri Tempi did not approve. Editor Carola Cigliotti of the Giuseppi Garibaldi differed. Editor Mariano Cancelliere took the middle of the road and printed a few things about both of his opposition papers.

De Vera is said to have objected and to have issued a circular stating that while in Italy he was a gentleman at a time when Cancelliere was following the humble pursuit of a barber. De Vera and Cancelliere's son met in Webster avenue and De Vera is said to have been beaten with a cane which he himself had carried. Police Inspector R. H. Robinson has made information against Andrew Cancelliere, son of the editor, charging assault and battery, and the elder Cancelliere is said to be preparing papers for a suit against De Vera.

TRAINS TO RUN BY ELECTRICITY

Westinghouse Gets Contract from New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad.

ORDERS 25 LOCOMOTIVES

High-speed electric trains are to be installed by the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad and the contract has been awarded to the Westinghouse company for 25 locomotives. Each will weigh approximately 78 tons and will be capable of maintaining a schedule speed of 26 miles an hour in local service with a 200-ton train, reaching a maximum speed of 45 miles an hour between stations. In express service a speed of from 60 to 70 miles an hour can be maintained with a 240-ton train. To handle heavier trains two or more locomotives will be coupled and controlled from the forward cab.

Each locomotive will be equipped with four Westinghouse single-phase railway motors of the gearless type, and with a unit switch system of multiple control. The motors will be spring-supported and connected in such a way that all dead weight will be taken off the axles. Each motor will be capable of developing 400 horse-power, which will give each locomotive a rated capacity of 1,600 horse-power, or about 600 horse-power more than the average steam locomotive.

The Westinghouse single-phase alternating current system which is to be used is the system the Pittsburgh company brought out a year or so ago, and which since then has been installed on a number of roads throughout the country. Its tremendous flexibility, the economy introduced in line construction, the large radius of action from a single station, the elimination of sub-stations with revolving machinery, and of electrolytic troubles and the economical and exact speed control are factors of far-reaching importance.

Another advantage is the use of the overhead line in place of the dangerous, inconvenient and expensive third-rail system. This feature is of great importance, both at the terminals, where the complicated net-work of tracks and switches makes the third-rail installation doubly dangerous and troublesome, and on the main line, where the expense of the third rail is almost prohibitive and where difficulties of installation are hard to overcome.

One of the important characteristics of the Westinghouse single phase alternating current motors is that they will operate with thorough success when supplied with direct current and may therefore be employed on either the alternating or direct current system.

Fusion Conference Having Trouble in Selecting a New York Mayoralty Candidate.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The nominating committee of the fusion conference met at the Fifth Avenue hotel this afternoon and after a two-hours' session failed to agree upon a candidate for mayor. Former State Senator John Ford was named as the candidate of the Republicans and Justice Seabury as the candidate of the Municipal Ownership league. R. Fulton Cutting of the Citizens' union opposed Ford. The conference adjourned until Wednesday evening, as the committee asked the conference for further time.

CHARGED WITH FAVORING STANDARD OIL COMPANY

Pennsylvania and Other Eastern Lines Concerned in Complaint.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—In two complaints filed with the interstate commerce commission by the Marshall Oil Company against the eastern and western trunk lines, it is alleged that the railroads are discriminating in favor of the Standard Oil Company. The eastern roads that are mentioned in the complaints are the Pennsylvania railroad, the Baltimore & Ohio, the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis, the Dunkirk, Allegheny Valley & Pittsburgh, the Erie & Pittsburgh, the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern and the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie.

The Marshall Oil Company is a shipper of oil products from Pittsburgh, Oil City, Warren, Titusville and other Pennsylvania points to Iowa and Nebraska. It is alleged the through rates from Pennsylvania points to Iowa and Nebraska are so much higher than the same rates from New Orleans and southern points that the Marshall company is not able to compete with the Standard Oil Company, which supplies this territory from its southern and western fields. Attention is called to the rate on oil from New Orleans to Chicago, which is 23 cents. As the distance between New Orleans and Chicago is 922 miles against 522 miles from Pennsylvania points to Peoria, the complainant alleges that the rate from Pennsylvania to Peoria is unreasonably high. It is claimed that if the railroads can afford to carry oil from New Orleans to Chicago for 23 cents, they can afford to reduce the rate from Pennsylvania points to Peoria.

The state railroad commissioners have ordered that less than carload lots rate be reduced to fourth class, but this does not cover interstate business and the attorneys of the Marshall company ask that the interstate commerce commission compel the railroads to put the same order in effect on business from other states.

THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A GREAT MAIL ORDER SYSTEM

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($150,000.00) ADDITIONAL STOCK.

AN OPPORTUNITY

To the Workingman, To the Business Man and to the General Public to Become Shareholders and Co-Operators in

THE LEADER CO-OPERATIVE DEPARTMENT STORE

The Largest Co-Operative Department Store in America. Capital Stock $1,000,000.

This company has achieved the greatest success in the shortest possible time known in merchandising in this country. The marvelous and unprecedented success of this store is due entirely to the co-operation of the mechanics, tradesmen, clerks and the general public, who have become connected with it as shareholders and its best customers, and who have, through their untiring efforts, made this enterprise an undoubted success.

THE RESULT

is that the success of this enterprise has been so phenomenal that the company is obliged to accommodate thousands of its shareholders and customers residing in Pittsburgh, Allegheny and the adjacent territory.

TO ESTABLISH A GREAT MAIL ORDER SYSTEM

To properly establish this department and make many other improvements necessary for the convenience of its shareholders and friends, it will require the sale of

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($150,000.00) ADDITIONAL STOCK.

THE PLAN:

It is proposed to sell the preferred stock at par ($10.00) ten dollars per share, and give as a bonus one share of common stock with each share of preferred stock. Each and every share of preferred stock is guaranteed a dividend of at least seven per cent annually.

The First Semi-Annual Dividend Was Paid August 1st, 1905.

This is an opportunity the like of which has never before been offered in this community, and should be taken advantage of by persons of large or small means. Owing to the immense earnings of stores of this character, the stock of such enterprises is always at a premium. This is the only department store in the City of Pittsburgh in which you can purchase stock.

ADVANTAGES OF THIS INVESTMENT

First—The stock of this company is as safe as your bank and brings greater returns for your money.

Second—There is a dollar's worth of merchandise in this store for every dollar invested.

Third—An investment in the stock of this company brings you a return of not less than seven per cent dividend on your stock, and also ten per cent on nearly all purchases of merchandise, making a saving to you of seventeen per cent on all money invested.

Persons considering subscribing for stock in this enterprise should bear in mind that this is not a "wild-cat" or "gold mine" scheme, situated in parts so far distant from home that they cannot be conveniently investigated.

A VISIT TO THIS GREAT MERCHANDISING EMPORIUM WILL CONVINCE THE MOST SKEPTICAL OF ITS RELIABILITY.

OFFICERS AND MANAGERS UNDER BOND

To secure our shareholders against any loss on the part of the dishonesty of any employe, all officers and employes occupying responsible positions are under bond.

THE MANAGEMENT of the Leader Department Store is composed of men who for years have made a study of practical merchandising. Every department is managed by men who are second to none in their particular line.

Preferred Stock $10 Per Share — SUBSCRIPTION TO STOCK — Guaranteed 7 Per Cent Dividend

I hereby subscribe for.....Shares of Preferred Stock of THE LEADER DEPARTMENT STORE, fully paid, non-assessable, 7 per cent guaranteed and cumulative. Par Value $10.00 Per Share, with which I am to receive 1 Share of Common Stock as a bonus with each share of Preferred.

WOMAN IS FREED THROUGH ERROR

Court Releases Annie M. Carl on One Charge While Other Indictments Pend.

GAS COMPANY ANSWERS CITY

An interesting state of affairs developed in criminal court yesterday when Annie M. Carl, a Wheeling (W. Va.) dressmaker, was given her freedom with a number of indictments hanging over her. Judge Macfarlane had ordered the jury to return a verdict of not guilty on a technicality, and the woman was discharged and immediately left the court house. She had been charged with defrauding lace merchants by means of bogus checks.

The cause of her haste was made apparent a few hours later, when it was discovered the woman had been freed through an oversight. A capias was issued at once by Judge Macfarlane for the woman's rearrest and given to a deputy sheriff, but she had not been found up to a late hour.

Miss Carl had been called for trial on an information charging her with false pretense in receiving goods valued at $145 from Boggs & Buhl of Allegheny. She had secured the goods by giving a check on the National Exchange bank of Wheeling for the amount. The check was returned marked "no funds." When the prosecution finished the woman's attorney asked that the woman be found not guilty under instructions of the court, as it had not been proven that the woman had not sufficient funds to meet the check in the Wheeling bank by any of the bank records. Judge Macfarlane ruled that the point was well taken and instructed the jury to return a verdict acquitting the defendant.

Mistake Was Discovered.

When Miss Carl, after being discharged, had hurried out of the courtroom, County Detective Robinson made the discovery that there were several other indictments pending against the woman, one made by Joseph Horne & Co., whom she is alleged to have defrauded out of several hundred dollars' worth of goods. When the attention of the court was brought to the matter the capias for her arrest was issued at once, but Miss Carl could not be located.

Judge James R. Macfarlane sentenced Daniel Darling two years and six months to the workhouse on a charge of felonious assault. Darling shot and seriously wounded his wife, Rosa Darling, and attempted to kill his mother-in-law, Mrs. Florence Schmiech, at their home on River avenue, Allegheny, August 1. Mrs. Schmiech, who was the prosecutor in the case, dropped dead of heart disease a few days ago. Darling pleaded guilty to the charge against him.

Other cases disposed of were: Joseph Hughes, false pretense, 30 days to the workhouse; Henry Miller, larceny and receiving stolen goods, 90 days to the workhouse; George Felder, larceny, 90 days to the workhouse.

In the suit of the city of Pittsburgh against the Consolidated Gas Company, in which a preliminary injunction was granted restraining the defendant company from interfering with the laying of the big water main in Ellsworth avenue, an answer was filed by the defendant yesterday. The defendant company admits that the plaintiff at the time of filing the bill was making improvements of its water supply by a system of sand filtration and the laying of large water mains, but denies that in laying such a line it was necessary to lay a 30-inch water main on the westerly side of Ellsworth avenue from Graham street to Colonial place, so as to require the removal of the defendant's gas lines, and that the plaintiff could have laid its water main in such a place on Ellsworth avenue as would not have required the removal, change or alteration of the defendant's pipe line.

Denies the City's Right.

The defendant also says that the plaintiff in the erection of its system of sand filtration and the laying of its large water mains on Ellsworth avenue, was not exercising a governmental or public power, but was exercising no higher right or power than a private water company engaged in like business. The defendant company asks that the bill be dismissed at the cost of the complainant, and that the damages which the defendant has sustained by reason of the decree granting the preliminary injunction be ascertained and assessed against the complainant.

On petition of Mrs. Huldah Cramer a rule has been granted on R. H. Jackson and W. T. Pierce to show cause why a judgment for $7000 should not be opened and a defense permitted. The judgment was entered on a note and Mrs. Cramer claims that when the note was given it was understood that it was not to be entered up or assigned.

An appeal to the supreme court was taken by Miss Nettie McLean from the decision of the orphans court in her suit against the estate of the late J. O. Brown over its holdings of Colonial Trust Company stock.

A deposit of between $40 and $50 in the Columbia Savings and Trust Company was ordered paid to Harry E. Holman, receiver of the Duquesne, North American and Lafayette mutual fire insurance companies. The money belongs to the three companies, but was deposited to the credit of the Pennsylvania underwriters.

The congregation of Ez Hayim (Tree of Life) has been authorized to sell its property at Fourth avenue and Ross streets to B. H. Mandell for $37,000.

In the divorce suit of George J. Wills against Hettie M. Wills the court refused to grant the libellant a divorce and dismissed the case at the cost of the libellant. The court says: "The evidence shows the libellant without reasonable cause left the home of himself and wife."

L. K. Gulley was appointed a commissioner to take testimony in the divorce suit of Bertha Gilchrist against Patrick A. Gilchrist, and R. S. Sill was appointed commissioner to take testimony in the divorce suit of Margaret Burtt against Andrew Burtt.

Harry E. Vaughan filed a petition for a divorce against Henrietta J. Vaughan for desertion.

Mrs. Lacey Is Indicted.

The grand jury returned a true bill against Mrs. Jennie Lacey, who shot her husband at their home, 2 Griffin street, Mt. Washington, September 15, during a domestic quarrel. Harry B. Lacey, the husband, who is still suffering from the wound inflicted, was compelled to testify before the grand jury, although he refused to prosecute his wife, the information against her being made by Police Inspector Thomas B. Werner.

A true bill was also returned against J. Henry Jahn, whose sensational troubles took up the time of the court last year. Jahn is charged with a misdemeanor by Margaret A. Hughes of 899 California avenue, Allegheny. Jahn, it is claimed, while serving his six months' sentence in jail tore up a note for $75, which had been shown him by Mrs. Hughes through the bars.

Other true bills returned were: Embezzlement, J. R. Worley et al; false pretense, Thomas Hurley; larceny, Emmett Corbitt, Ella Marwell, Alexander Mawhinney, Samuel Winter; A. Temple, Fanny Kelsey; larceny by bailee, R. Gundman, William Weiss, W. C. Porter; aggravated assault and battery, James Williams, William Yeager, Albert Witner, William Gairlas, Daniel Helwig; entering a building, John Conords; assault and battery, J. B. Reed, Benjamin Whitehouse, C. T. Sulzner, James Zeigler, Andrew Maza, Fanny Pann, Orpen J. Gilbert, Charles Wilson, Ellen Butszkey, Frank Stalsch, R. J. Todd, Patrick Ruan; misdemeanors, E. B. Words, Joseph Miron, Katherine Shore.

When the grand jury reported in the morning Judge Macfarlane delivered a lecture about the many requests for permission to be absent. He told the jurors he wanted better attendance and more attention to duty. During the day the new roads were considered, but no return was made.

Suit on a Promissory Note.

Separate suits were filed by the Duquesne Trust Company against the Home Ice Company, N. A. Voegtely, Henry J. Meyer, P. Wuesthoff and John Wuesthoff to recover $1,050 on a promissory note which is alleged to have been signed by the Wuesthoffs for the ice company and indorsed by the others.

Damages in $50,000 are asked by Bistok Kolokwers from the Pennsylvania company on account of the death of his son, who was killed at Ambridge by a freight train. The plaintiff wants $2,500 of the amount as a penalty on the defendant for the purpose of making other railroad companies more careful in future and the other $25,000 as compensation for the death of his son.

Suit was filed yesterday by La Belleview Land Company against the Duquesne Realty Company to recover $5,925 75. The plaintiff alleges that in 1902 it was the owner of a tract of land at Steubenville, O., and entered into a contract with the Duquesne Realty Company to sell the lots. It is alleged that when the contract ended in December, 1902, the Duquesne company had accounted for sales amounting to $13,102 97 and that investigations since made show that the sales really amounted to $16,993 62, a difference of $4,329 32. It is also averred that by fraudulent representations $166 42 excess commissions. Those two sums make the $5,325 75 La Belleview company sues to recover. Both companies are local corporations.

Steve Putnah, a butcher of Braddock, filed a petition in bankruptcy. He gives his assets as $929 40 and his liabilities as $1,183 44.

An execution was issued by C. S. Foster against Charles J. Rosenzweig and Minnie E. Rosenzweig for $501 94.

Charles P. Pearson, a merchant tailor of New York, filed a suit against C. M. Travis to recover $772 75 for clothing furnished to the defendant. He alleges he made for Travis one suit, valued at $75, one overcoat $55 and one vest $18 75.

Inquires Into What Took Place in Councils When Grant Franchise Passed.

COUNCILMEN ARE BEFORE HIM

While the star-chamber sessions in the John L. Shuff case, in which he seeks to have the franchise for the Grant boulevard declared illegal and void, are still being guarded as carefully as ever, it is said the story of what transpired in the common council chamber the night this ordinance was passed was told to Commissioner Gamble, who commenced yesterday to take additional testimony for use of the court. In order to discover just what was done to get certain councilmen over to a favorable view of that ordinance, Commissioner Gamble called three councilmen before him—Thomas M. Brown, C. S. Crawford and William H. Stevenson.

The Voters' Civic league, which declared bribery was used, is backing Shuff in his suit, and yesterday, it is declared, these bribery charges, made so openly in court of common pleas No. 1 and afterwards stricken from the records, were given some attention. What testimony was adduced could not be given out under a strict order of Judge Buffington.

Councilman Thomas M. Brown left the council meeting on the night the ordinance was passed. He had always been opposed to the ordinance, and if he had remained in the chamber it would have been impossible to suspend the rules and pass it finally.

Councilman Stevenson, it is said, was called to testify to the actions of outsiders who invaded the chamber. He was always opposed to the ordinance, and his testimony met with a number of objections, which will be carried to Judge Buffington before they are made part of the official record.

A number of prominent persons connected with the passage of the ordinance were to have been called, and may be produced as witnesses today. It is expected J. H. Reed, president of the Philadelphia Company, will be called, together with M. K. McMullin and T. Hart Given. It was decided to finish with the councilmen before taking up the alleged contract of Given and McMullin with the Philadelphia Company. The agreement is now in the hands of the court after a long fight over its delivery, and the witnesses last named are to explain the details.

The attorneys for Shuff and the league are determined to hold daily meetings, if they can get the consent of the commissioner, and press the matter to a finish as fast as possible. In the meantime the mandamus proceedings to be brought in the name of the commonwealth and authorized by the attorney general will be prepared and submitted to Mr. Carson. As soon as he approves the papers they will be filed in one of the common pleas courts, which one has not yet been determined.

SCORE RABBI LEVY.

United Presbyterian Clergymen Pass Bitter Resolutions Scoring Statement of Jewish Rabbi.

Resolutions upon the attack of foreign missions in Japan made by the Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy and which was printed exclusively in The Gazette on Tuesday last, were passed yesterday morning during the weekly session of the United Presbyterian ministerial association. The resolution, which was presented by the Rev. Dr. J. T. McCroy, is as follows:

The United Presbyterian Ministerial association, sympathizing with the cause of Christian missions in China and Japan, and believing the rabid and misleading attack made on the missionaries, laboring in those countries by Rabbi Levy, of this city, is calculated to injure the cause of missions in general with the uninformed desire to join in the condemnation of such gross misrepresentations. This form of attack on missions is not new and has been successfully refuted in every instance where it has been made, still it is well for those who are ready to make such false and slanderous reports to know that their statements will not only be disproved, but that also their conduct will meet the disapprobation of all Christian people.

At the meeting of the Methodist Episcopal clergymen an address on the work of missionaries in Korea and Japan was delivered by the Rev. William P. Sweaner, who served as a missionary in Korea. He gave statistics showing attendance in the churches and schools in the orient. No reference was made to Dr. Levy's statement either by the speaker or his hearers.

The Rev. B. F. Hummell addressed the Methodist Protestant pastors on "Church Discipline," while "The New Song" was the theme of a talk delivered before the Presbyterian preachers by the Rev. W. L. McClure of Jeannette. The Rev. J. T. Davis read a paper at the meeting of Baptist clergymen and the Rev. W. J. Bucher spoke on "The Imprecatory Psalms" at the meeting of Lutheran pastors.

DEATH TAKES MAN WHO WAS IN THE CITY HOME 43 YEARS

Death has removed Joseph Hildebrand, aged 70, one of the oldest inmates at the city home. Hildebrand died at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon of general debility. He had been an inmate of the home for the last 43 years and entered the institution when it was located in Girtys run in 1862. Hildebrand was deaf and dumb, partially paralyzed and feeble-minded. He was born and reared in Allegheny.

Cohan's New Play at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 25.—"Forty-five Minutes from Broadway," a musical comedy by George M. Cohan, the author-actor, was given its initial production at the Great Southern theater in this city tonight. Fay Templeton, who is starred in the piece, has a role which gives her wide opportunities. The piece is elaborately staged and the scenic effects are attractive. The large audience which saw the play tonight was enthusiastic and demonstrative.

FEW NOVELTIES IN THE THEATERS

Empire Has Melodrama That Is New and Charley Grapewin Is Excellent in New Comedy.

AT THE OTHER PLAYHOUSES

Nixon—"Babes in Toyland."

This quaint and delightful music and comedy conceit, for which Victor Herbert and Glen MacDonough are responsible, began its third engagement in Pittsburgh before a well-filled house at the Nixon last evening. In music and settings "Babes in Toyland" is not only unique in character, but is something of a record-breaker in popularity. This is easily explained, for the piece has its inspiration in the dearest memories and facts of life—those of childhood. Mr. Herbert nowhere makes silly or grotesque the music he has written for this child's extravaganza. On the other hand, there is some of the worthiest and most tuneful orchestration to be found in it that this popular composer has ever given us. His toy march, the accompanying music of the pantomime in the second act, "Toyland" and the waltz in the second act, are among the prettiest melodies in the Herbert repertoire. Mr. MacDonough has written a story to fit the music conceptions, and Hamlin and Mitchell gave the piece a rich setting. In this last particular the stage pieces show some signs of decay here and there, but the costumes look fresh and new.

The present cast in those particulars where no changes have been made since last year is thoroughly adequate. Ignacio Martinetti has improved as Alan. Gus Pixley is even funnier as the police inspector. Katherine Bell is hardly the equal of Mabel Harrison in the part of Jane, though she has a sweet and winsome personality. May De Souza, who is cast as Mary, was sick last evening and Miss Florence Sylvester sang the role acceptably. Christine Hudson as Tom Tom is Bessie Wynn's equal in physical charm, but lacks the latter's personality and liquid voice, so the "Toyland" song hardly caught the popular favor that it has hitherto enjoyed. Walter Shrode, one of the acrobatic brothers, plays the role of the toymaker's assistant quite as well as did Charlie Geyer, while Maude Campbell assists in quite humorously. In all other particulars the pretty spectacle is very much the same as when shown at the Nixon last season.

Alvin—Charles E. Grapewin.

"It's Up To You, John Henry." This is the name of the musical comedy vehicle on which Charley Grapewin has just driven into Pittsburgh. It's a mighty long title and the fifth up to "Dinkelspiel" Hobart. It's really a good title, when you come to think of it. If it were shorter it might suit Grapewin better, but it could be still longer and sound very much like Hobart. Grapewin, as everybody knows, is a prince of good fellows, a very decent scout in musical comedy and a lad who can kiss the sweetest thing in a pretty chorus with all the unctuousness of the best of them. Hobart is a newspaper man, so also like George Ade, butted into the theatrical business and landed. Hobart used to do some stunts in Dutch dialect. Some of these were pretty bad, but the best of it was good enough for the ephemeral literature of the Sunday press. People who liked him there were more than pleased with him when he essayed a stage piece. So much for Grapewin and Hobart. They are hard to beat in their own line, and as for Grapewin, he rarely makes a mistake on this because he always has a straight tip on choice. The second act of the piece is quite elaborately mounted. The others are just so, so. Anna Chance is a delightful acquisition to Mr. Grapewin's company. In the second act she has two refreshingly good numbers. These are the best musical things in the performance. With a congenial company, "It's Up To You, John Henry" is more than up to the standard of recent things up at the Alvin. But being up to "Dinkelspiel" and Grapewin it is well done.

Empire—"The Shadow Behind the Throne."

The Empire is unusually fortunate this week in being able to offer one of the most novel and creditable performances of the season, thus far, in "The Shadow Behind the Throne." It has been charged that the play, which is new in Pittsburgh, is a reproduction of Belasco's "Darling of the Gods." This its managers deny, claiming that it was put on the stage fully two months before Belasco's play was seen. It is so entirely out of the usual run of uptown offerings as to be entitled to the appreciative support which it received at every stage last night. Plot, action and scenery are unique. The melodrama is historical, dealing with the famous Boxer troubles in China. Interwoven with the thrilling love story of a charming American girl, the daughter of the American minister to China, are the strangely interesting workings of the terrible Chinese secret order in which the young attache to the minister and the lover of his daughter plays a conspicuous part as the hero. With the plot of the story laid in the Chinese capital where the frenzied forces of the natives are expected every moment to destroy all the legations there is no lack of interest in the action. On the contrary, the play grows stronger as it progresses, an effect which is aided much by the abundant and well selected scenery, all of which the company provides. Historically the play is instructive and its frequent bursts of patriotic sentiment were received with the most hearty approbation last night. The cast as a whole is remarkably strong. The character of the Viceroy, one of peculiar interest, is well presented by Charles Gibney. Roy Applegate, the American attache, and Joseph Manning, the American spy in the service of the Chinese Rovers, are exceptionally good in their opposite parts. An inimitable puzzle in the midst of the most grotesque surroundings is Everett Butterfield, the "Bobby" of the cast. No heroine who has come to the Empire stage for months has given a better presentation of a difficult part than Miss Lida Merab, the daughter of the American minister. The production abounds in thrilling climaxes, but these are tempered by the keener interest felt in the novel settings and historical interest.

Belasco—"The Earl and the Girl."

The second and last week of this Shubert festival of color music and Folyesque mirth began last evening at the Belasco with another large audience. All the favorites of the cast, including Eddie Foy, received a glad welcome, and the Americanized English music comedy will doubtless duplicate its success of last week. There has been a change in the cast that does not strengthen the piece. Bernard Dyllyn no longer plays the roaring American who is looking for the earl with a brace of pistols. That part is now taken by J. D. Dixon, who lacks Dyllyn's big personality and vigorous adaptability to the part. Otherwise the comedy goes with great relish, and the swing song is still the popular feature, next to Foy's fun and antics as Jim Cheese.

Bijou—"Queen of the Highbinders."

It is an extremely saddening and discouraging fact that a theater full of presumably intelligent and upright people will sit through the performance of a play like "The Queen of the Highbinders" and actually seem to find pleasure and amusement in stage incidents that not only give a gross and wholly false view of life, but present that view in a weak and badly acted manner. The introduction of a body of drilling zouaves in this play is the only redeeming feature about it. It is coarse in comedy and demoralizing in lesson. Raw, ignorant pictures of crime, unrelieved by an intelligent appeal to the better emotions, are inexcusable even under the guise of pandering to the tastes of the primary theatergoer. The efforts of a Chinaman, with the assistance of an adventuress, to procure for the Chinaman's den a young wife is the main theme of the play, and though thwarted in this purpose, the play wades knee deep in murder, prison life and revolting associations to secure the supposed triumph of virtue. The acting nowhere rises above mediocrity, and the atmosphere beyond the footlights appeals only to the most crass emotionalism or else to the worst instincts in human minds.

I know that to criticise a play of this kind is usually thought to add to its prestige, but a public that will support such plays should be once and a while told plainly the nature of the poison they are absorbing. If that public can be reached by cleaner plays it is the duty of the more careful civic sentiment to force managers to provide them. A melodramatic appetite is almost a common inheritance with all classes, but because people love melodrama and are best pleased through an appeal to the elemental emotions, is no excuse for the perpetration of plays like "The Queen of the Highbinders." It is an unmitigated insult to the most ordinary intelligence, and should, with all its kind, be driven from the stage. CHARLES M. BREGG.

Gayety—"Trans-Atlantic Burlesquers."

The olio at the Gayety this week is better than the burlesque, and the entire production does not score heavily. The Transatlantics are Fulgora's old vaudeville show given burlesque and chorus trimmings. Robert Shilgora is the manager and adds his old act of character impersonation, which is clever. The star act of the olio, however, is that of the DeKoe Trio, who do a wonderful balancing and acrobatic act. This is a truly fine piece of work. The burlesquers are rough and almost senseless and are badly equipped, both in comedy and chorus. One expects burlesque these days to be crude, but some of the alleged humor in the Transatlantics is beyond the limits of patience. The chorus is another visually weak spot, being composed of young women who would hardly take beauty prizes anywhere, with possibly the exception of Miss Helen Parr, whose pulchritude and voice make up for deficiency in grace. "The Transatlantics" are not up to a very high average of burlesque.

Academy—Empire Burlesque.

The names of Imhoff and Conn, billed at the head of the Empire Burlesquer's program, undoubtedly helped swell the Academy crowd that turned out to see the matinee and evening performances yesterday. They portray the funniest bit of Hiberian character work that is seen at the Academy during the season, judged by the continuous laughter they evoke, and in the language of the baseball fan they certainly "have something on" the burlesque patrons. The attraction is a three-scene burlesque with the usual fast musical numbers and costume changes by the chorus girls and here and there a specialty by good vaudeville performers, among which are the Leland quartet, Brothers De Van, acrobats, and also moving pictures of the Britt-Nelson fight, showing that exciting contest in a most realistic manner.

Miss Bates to Open Next Tuesday.

Advices received here yesterday from New York cast some doubt upon the possibility of Miss Blanche Bates presenting "The Girl of the Golden West" on next Monday night; so, in order that there may be no misunderstanding or disappointment to the theater-going public, it has been determined to postpone the opening until Tuesday evening next, when Miss Bates will positively appear in the initial performance of Mr. Belasco's great production.

Beauty Spectacle "Humpty Dumpty."

The sale of seats for Klaw & Erlanger's American production of "Humpty Dumpty" will begin Thursday morning at the Nixon theater, where this great show will begin an engagement of two weeks, beginning next Monday. It will be seen here with all the original cast and ensemble, which numbers 250 people, and which characterized the run of the play all last year at the New Amsterdam theater, New York. In the three acts consumed in telling the tale of this mad-cap "Humpty Dumpty" there are 15 elaborate scenes, which are marvels of stage art, 1,000 costumes, and novel stagecraft heretofore never seen in any other presentation.

"Moonshine" Scores a Success.

DETROIT, MICH., Sept. 25.—Miss Marie Cahill in the Detroit opera house tonight opened her season before a large audience in a new musical play, "Moonshine," under the management of Daniel V. Arthur. The scene of the play is in England. The first act is at Heather Hanks, on the Thames river, near Henley, and the second act shows a rose pergola on an English country estate. The performance was received with approval and Miss Cahill scored with her songs. The book and lyrics of "Moonshine" are by Edwin Milton Royle and George V. Hobart and the music is by Silvio Hein.

"Checkers" Coming.

"Checkers" advance sale for its engagement next week at the Alvin theater will begin on Thursday morning. Judging from the many inquiries there is small doubt that the sale will be big and the engagement a success. The production here will be practically the original New York cast and scenery, with the exception of the phenomenal young actor, Hans Robert, who has been secured for the title role.

BOYS STEAL NEWSPAPERS.

George Strathman Swears That He Caught Walter Mayhan in the Act.

Walter Mayhan, aged 15, was bound over to the juvenile court yesterday on the charge of stealing newspapers. He lives at 288 Main street. A good many complaints from newspaper subscribers in the neighborhood of Main and Fisk streets had come in. They were much annoyed by somebody who was stealing newspapers from their doorsteps, so a watch was kept.

George Strathman, a newspaper carrier of 351 Read street, captured young Mayhan. Mayhan was taken before an alderman and Strathman swore that he caught the boy while he was taking newspapers from the doorstep of the Carnegie Branch library in Lawrenceville, and that he had seven or eight papers in his possession. The alderman held Mayhan for the juvenile court.

Several boys have been caught stealing newspapers during the past few weeks. If they only knew it, their career as thieves does not last long, for as soon as a complaint is made that a subscriber did not find his paper in the morning, a watch is set and the boy is always caught.

THE PIANOLA was made so every one could use the Piano

Simplicity and artistic efficiency were the two points aimed at in the Pianola's construction. The successful combination of these two qualities is the secret of the Pianola's present popularity.

When used, its perfect reproduction of the most skillful and artistic hand-playing has commended it to the musicians and musical people, while its easy operation, well within every child's understanding, makes it practical to the music-loving but unskillful public.

The enormous increase in the number of Pianolas sold in all parts of the world indicates that the period when every piano will be accompanied by one of these wonderful instruments is not far distant.

Is it not strange that ANYONE should delay investigating an instrument which makes the piano so useful and is capable of giving so much genuine enjoyment?

The cost of the Pianola is $250.

GIANTS WIN IN THE FIRST INNING

Phillippe Hits Three Batsmen and Wagner Makes Wildest Kind of a Throw.

BIG CROWD IN ATTENDANCE

Deacon Phillippe broke a record in the first inning against New York yesterday at Exposition park. This feat, together with a splendid throw by Wagner, gave the Giants five runs, putting them so far ahead that the Pirates were unable to overtake them. Phillippe's record-breaking exploit was hitting three batsmen. Three batsmen have been hit in a game (seldom, of course), but who ever heard of three hits in the ribs in one inning? The history of the fatal first inning reads like this. The very first ball pitched by Phillippe caught Bresnahan on the left shoulder, and he walked. Browne rolled the ball to Brain for a sacrifice. A close decision put him out at first, Bresnahan reached second. Donlin hit to center for a single, and Bresnahan dashed home. Donlin went to second on the throw. McGann was hit by Phillippe and so was Mertes, filling the bases. Clarke came in from left field and held a confab with the Deacon and then returned. Dahlen hit to Wagner, who first made a feint to throw to second and then fired the ball over Hilleb rand's head. The ball went so far that Donlin, McGann and Mertes scored, and Dahlen went clean to third. It was awful. Devlin sent a fly to Leach, and Dahlen scored the fifth run, although Leach made an attempt to catch him at the plate. Strang retired the side by going out on a foul fly to Gibson.

After the first inning Phillippe settled down, not a Giant reaching third base until the eighth inning, and only one getting to second. Wagner was sick and left the game after the first inning, Leach going to short, Ganley moving to center and Clymer taking his old place in right.

In the eighth and ninth innings the Giants touched up the Deacon rather severely. McGann started the eighth by sending a three-bagger along right field foul line. Mertes hit between center and right for three bases, Bowerman scoring. Dahlen hit for a single, bringing Mertes home. Devlin dumped the ball and Brain fumbled, Strang dumped the ball to Phillippe, advancing Dahlen to third and Devlin to second. Mathewson hit to right for a single, scoring Dahlen. Bresnahan and Browne were easy outs.

In the ninth Devlin dropped the ball into center field for a single. McGann followed with a two-bagger. Mertes hit across second base for a single, sending Devlin and McGann over the plate. Dahlen, Devlin and Strang never saw first base.

Mathewson pitched in winning style all the way. In the third inning the Pirates secured two runs after the side should have been retired. Phillippe struck out. Clarke singled to right, Ganley went out to Mertes. Leach singled. Clymer hit to Strang, who made a wild toss to first. Clymer was safe and the bases were full. Brain sent a single to center, scoring Clarke and Leach.

Clymer scored the next two runs. In the sixth he got his base on balls, stole second and scored on a single by Ritchey. In the eighth he forced Leach at third, going to second during the trouble. A two-bagger by Brain along right field foul line brought him home. Attendance, 9,810. Score:

Youngstown Blanks Niles.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 25.—(Special.)—Youngstown whitewashed Niles this afternoon 6 to 0. Ferguson pitched excellent ball, allowing but two hits. Boyle was wild and retired in the third inning, after Youngstown had scored three runs and nobody was out. Stewart did well, retiring the side without another run. The score:

CHICAGO GAINS SOME BY WINNING TWICE

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—With Capt. Collins of Boston still on the injured list Chicago's winning streak remained unbroken today, the visitors winning two games, 3 to 1 and 7 to 4 respectively. Gibson's wildness, poor work by Armbruster, an error by Ferris and the timeliness of Chicago's hits decided the second game. Attendance, 5,923. Scores:

Sixty-Five Men Out for Practice at Princeton Where the Backs Do Good Work.

AT THE OTHER COLLEGES

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNEAUT LAKE, PA., Sept. 25.—The W. U. P. training camp today presented much the appearance of a sanitarium, the bruising character of Saturday's fierce scrimmage encounter between the varsity and scrub teams became the more apparent today when the victims began to report for medical attention. Perry and Miller are badly cut and bruised. Selg and Meh have developed bad cases of charley horse, while Marshall and Yielding are crippled with body bruises.

In spite of the fact that this game left the squad in a badly crippled condition, Coach Mosse considers that the contest was of paramount importance in showing up the different men under fire. Today the men were put through a very light practice. Mosse had the punters at work again this afternoon, and a few signals were run off. Schmidt is coming out with his old time form. Sullivan and Capwell are also doing good work. The team this year has a fine place and drop kicker in Art Griggs.

Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 25.—(Special.)—Nearly 65 men reported for practice this afternoon, and as the weather was unusually cool the squad was put through its work with old time briskness. In the scrimmage the scrubs had on the whole, the best of it. At the start the varsity did some fine plunging that resulted in excellent gains and carried them a long way down the field before the scrub had a chance to rally its defense. A bit later, however, they stood like a wall, in spite of their lack of weight, and when they at length obtained the ball, carried it around to the ends with long gains. Tenney made a couple of 20-yard advances and he and Moscrip did a good deal of kicking back and forth. The fast that they got through so consistently was due to an unexpected sluggishness on the part of the varsity, and some tackling fit to make the coaches weep. As it turned out, however, the varsity's slump was temporary. Tenney played quarter with his usual ability and Simmons and Fryer did star work. Munn was placed at right end and Hobbs left end, Sylvester

TEXT OF TREATY IS MADE PUBLIC

Norwegian Opinion Is That Sweden Scores Heavy Advantage in Pact Terms.

ARBITRATION IS COMPULSORY

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN, Sept. 25.—The text of the protocol signed at Karlstad Saturday by the Norwegian-Swedish delegates appointed to arrange the terms for the dissolution of the union of Norway and Sweden, subject to the ratification of the riksdag and storthing, is published here. The document will become a treaty when ratified by the two parliaments. It consists of five main articles and 25 sub-clauses. The first article deals with arbitration, the second with the neutral zone and the demolition of the fortifications, the third with reindeer pastures, etc., the fourth with intertraffic and the fifth with common waterways.

The agreement provides for the compulsory arbitration before The Hague court of all disputes except matters of vital interest, at periods of a decade with extensions for other periods of 10 years unless two years previous notice is given of an intention to abrogate it.

The treaty provides for a zone on either side of the frontier which shall forever be neutral, and for the demolition of the fortresses within that zone with the exception of the old portion of the fortifications of Fredriksten, Gyldenloeve and Overbjerget, which may remain, but which are not to be used as fortifications. A headquarters staff and garrison may be maintained at Fredriksten to the same extent as prior to the erection of the new fortifications. No extension of the Kongsvinger group of fortifications will be permitted, nor of the new forts erected within 19 kilometres of the old fortress of Kongsvinger.

The general impression made on the public by the treaty is favorable.

CHRISTIANIA, NORWAY, Sept. 25.—The newspapers express different opinions concerning the treaty. The Intelligensdiern says that the result is really disappointing, and that the advantages which the arbitration treaty should yield could not be equal to the concessions by Norway.

The Social Demokraten expresses the belief that the demands of Sweden have all been acceded to without Norway having gained advantage. The arbitration provided for, it says, is so limited in scope that it can hardly be called arbitration. The Morgenbladet, while having no doubt that the agreement reached at Karlstad will become binding, advocates a complete and definite settlement of all the conditions, as the present arrangement is only provisional.

FAVOR ERECTING MONUMENT ON ANTIETAM BATTLEFIELD

A meeting of the survivors of the Eighth Pennsylvania Reserves will be held at the Seventh Avenue hotel at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening to take action in relation to the erection of a monument on the battlefield of Antietam. This regiment is one of those covered by the plans to build state monuments. Gen. John A. Wiley, one of the state commissioners, was a corporal in its ranks. The regiment has no permanent association of survivors, and for this reason the meeting for Thursday evening has been called. The Eighth was organized at Camp Wilkins from the surplus companies offered for the first three months' call. Pennsylvania's quota being filled. Three of the companies came from Pittsburgh, one from Clarion county, one from Uniontown, one from Washington, one from Brownsville, one from Waynesburg, one from Kittanning and one from Broad Top.

SAY THE COMMITTEE IS INFLUENCED BY PASSES

Charges of neglect of duty were made last evening against the railroad committee of the McKeesport council at the meeting of the common branch. The charge grew out of the failure of the committee to take any action on an ordinance which was referred to it last April. The ordinance provided for safety gates and watchmen at all the grade crossings in the city. It was declared that railroad passes and other favors had figured in the committee's failure to take any action on the ordinance. Common council voted to take the ordinance out of the committee's hands.

Temple Is Formally Opened.

The new Hebrew congregation of Ahavith Achim formally opened its temple on Sixth street, Braddock, on Sunday afternoon. Rabbi Lyveith of Pittsburgh conducted the rites. The members of the congregation, 50 in number, with their families, assembled outside the temple and the door was unlocked by Mrs. Max Mervis.

Socialist Leader Kills Himself.

BRIDGEPORT, CONN., Sept. 25.—John A. Norton, once a candidate for governor of the state on the Socialist ticket, committed suicide today by inhaling gas through a tube which he attached to a jet. Norton was 46 years of age and for years had been prominent as a Socialist leader.

Pittsburgh Enterprise Again Predominates.

Within the last six months it is surprising with what degree of rapidity an entirely new and original plan of merchandising has been installed on one of Pittsburgh's central corners, which for a long time was conspicuous on account of its total inactivity. On the spot where Gusky's large store once flourished there is now a thriving association of business men conducting an enterprise which is entirely new to this country—the Leader Co-operative Department Store.

During the winter months, last year, there assembled in the offices of John R. Cavanagh & Co. a number of Pittsburgh's business men, and the idea was there inculcated into the minds of these gentlemen that this city, "the workshop of the world," offered an exceptionally fine opportunity for establishing a business to be conducted on a strictly co-operative basis, which is a basis of "one for all and all for one." That is where the Leader co-operative department store originally was established.

The opening of this store occurred during last May, and since that time it is certainly gratifying to observe with what degree of success the business of this great concern has progressed. Naturally the expectations of the originators of the idea were of an elevated character, but it is observed with keen pleasure that at this time the business being accomplished by this worthy concern is far in excess of the fondest expectations of the promoters.

Pittsburgh has always occupied a conspicuous place in the eyes of the world for the originality and success of its mammoth enterprises, and the success so far attained by the Leader department store only goes to more firmly establish in the eyes of the world the fact that here in this great city are originated and followed out some of the greatest enterprises in the history of the world. It is with much gratification that Pittsburghers should help the success of the Leader co-operative department store, and if they will consider a moment they will readily conceive the full meaning of the word "co-operation," and put forth all their efforts to assist this deserving concern to achieve even greater glories than it is at present enjoying.

The Leader store is now undergoing vast improvements and installing new methods for the handling of its extensive trade, predominant among which is the great mail-order system which will be the means of distributing its merchandise to all parts of the United States, and probably Canada. It can readily be seen that Pittsburgh merchandise will, as a result, be extensively distributed, not only among Pittsburghers but all through this vast western continent.

It was learned at the offices of John R. Cavanagh & Co., in the Keystone building, 324 Fourth avenue, that stock can be purchased in this great enterprise, and that this opportunity is the result of the establishment of the above-mentioned mail order system. Pittsburghers should look with pride upon the attainment of unlimited success by this association that has at heart the interests of the mechanics, tradesmen, clerks and business men who assist in maintaining the enviable reputation which Pittsburgh has already attained.

SOCIETY

DR. AND MRS. ALEXANDER A. E. M'CANDLESS of Penniston avenue, Squirrel hill, have formally announced the engagement of their elder daughter, Miss M. Gertrude McCandless, to Robert Blakeney Petty, Jr., a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blakeney Petty of Irwin avenue, Squirrel hill. The wedding will be an evening event of Wednesday, November 1, in the Sixth Presbyterian church, Forbes and Murray avenues. There will be several attendants, and numerous social affairs to be given for the bride-elect previous to her marriage. Among the latter will be a dinner which Mr. and Mrs. Petty will give on the Tuesday evening before the wedding. Mr. Petty and his bride have taken apartments in Wilkinsburg, where they will be at home after their wedding journey. Miss McCandless is a sister of Mrs. Charles Lambie, whose marriage took place a little over a year ago. Mr. Petty's engagement is the second in his family to be announced within a year, the first having been that of his sister, Miss Anna Myra Petty, to John M. Irwin, whose wedding will not take place until next spring. Mr. Petty is a Princeton man, class of '01.

Reception for Daughter-in-Law.

Mrs. Jay Donald Iams, a bride of a year ago, who was formerly Miss Grace Donnan of Washington, Pa., will be guest of honor at a large reception which her mother-in-law, Mrs. Franklin P. Iams, will give on Wednesday afternoon, October 4. Mrs. Iams has divided the reception into two sets of hours, the first group of friends to be received from 2 until 4, and the second from 3 until 5 o'clock. She will have a long list of assistants, including Mrs. Alvan Donnan and Miss Lucy Donnan, mother and sister of the honor guest, with Mrs. Lawrence Stewart, all of Washington. The other aids are Mrs. Edward Stieren of Edgeworth, Mrs. Charles S. Crawford, Mrs. George B. Motheral, Mrs. Harry S. Kiehl, Mrs. D. P. Jones, Mrs. Gilliford B. Sweeney, Mrs. John Furman, Mrs. William J. Sheraden, Mrs. James McClure, Mrs. John Hall, Mrs. William Leatherman, Mrs. Levi Bird Duff, Mrs. Edward E. Crocker, Mrs. Simon R. Huss, Mrs. George B. Schleuderberg, Mrs. Philip I. Whitman and Mrs. G. A. F. Ahlberg of Pittsburgh and Allegheny. At the close of the reception Mrs. Iams will entertain her aids with an informal little supper. Mr. and Mrs. Jay Donald Iams have been making their home since their marriage with the former's parents in Sheraden, but will take possession of their own new home in the same town shortly after the entertainment next Wednesday.

Classmates Hold Reunion.

A pleasant affair of last Saturday was the reunion of several former Indiana State Normal school friends at the home of Miss Susanna W. B. McDonald, near Glenshaw. The following representatives of the class were present: Mrs. Gertrude Cunningham Glover, Miss Minnie F. McFarland and Miss Emily Juanita Shields of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Edith Andriessen Perdman, Bryn Mawr; Miss Nannie Ewing, Wilkinsburg; Miss Ada C. Gibson, Bellevue; Mr. and Mrs. George H. Jackson, Braddock; Miss Vinnie Knappenberger, Greensburg; Miss Elizabeth Pearsall, Jeannette; Miss Rose Ma-Patterson, Homestead; Miss Nancy H. Nolin, Broughton; Miss Jessie G. Russell, McKeesport; Miss Adelia Vencent, Swissvale; Miss Pauline Block, Miss Margaret L. Cubbage, Miss Mary R. Knox and Miss Edna May McCallister, Allegheny. Other guests were Mrs. Horace Carmalt and Miss Mary Swift Wright of Pittsburgh, former teachers at Indiana; Miss Etta Lewis, Miss Emma Hood, Pittsburgh; Miss Mary Stewart and Miss Manning, Allegheny.

Luncheon for Bridal Party.

Miss Anna Miriam Thomas, one of the bridesmaids, will entertain the other girls chosen to attend Miss Ida May Sipe at her marriage to Charles Edward Marks, at a luncheon at her home in Avondale place, East End this afternoon. All the out-of-town members of the bridal party have reached Sewickley and were entertained by Miss Sipe last evening. Whist was played with four tables in use, the guests including a few friends of the hostess in addition to the bridal attendants. Miss Pauline Gleffer's card party next Saturday afternoon will be one of the largest affairs to be given for Miss Sipe prior to her wedding.

Aids Are Selected.

Mrs. George R. Mathieu of Ben Venue avenue will be assisted by a number of young friends at the card party which she will give next Saturday afternoon. Miss Emma Louise Lambing, whose engagegement to Harry A. Bigley, a brother of Mrs. Mathieu, has just been announced, will be the guest of honor and will receive with the hostess, while the other assistants will include Miss Gertrude Heeveler, Miss Cora Sneathen, Miss Stella Beale, Miss May Beale and Miss Louise O'Reilly. The afternoon entertainment is to be followed by a dinner and evening dance.

Local Girls at Sage College.

A party of five young women left Pittsburgh last night for Ithaca, N. Y., where they will attend Sage college, the woman's department of Cornell university. They were: Miss Marion Armstrong of the East End, the Misses Grace and Marg Christy of Ford City, Pa.; Miss Ethel Hamilton of Ben Avon, and Miss Jane Anderson of Wilkinsburg. All are graduates of Pittsburgh academy. Miss Armstrong and Miss Grace Christy are members of the junior class. Miss Hamilton and Miss Mary Christy are sophomores and Miss Anderson is a freshman.

Handforth-McCully.

William Henry McCully of East Pittsburgh and Miss Florence Handforth of Harwood street, Sheraden, were married at 8 o'clock last evening in the Episcopal Church of the Messiah, Sheraden boulevard, the Rev. A. F. Hawkesworth officiating. The ceremony was attended by friends and immediate relatives. After the ceremony dinner was served at the home of J. C. Wolfendale, brother-in-law of Miss Handforth. Mr. and Mrs. McCully started on a trip to eastern cities, and after their return will live in the East End.

Rehearsed for the Wedding.

The rehearsal for the wedding of Miss Margaretta Johnston and Dr. John DeVinne Singley, took place last evening at the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Norwood Johnston in South Rebecca street, East End. The wedding will take place at their residence tomorrow evening, the Rev. Dr. Robert M. Russell, pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian church, officiating. The bride-elect is a daughter of John T. Johnston, who makes his home with his son in Rebecca street.

Give First Recital in Series.

The first of the annual series of studio recitals to be given by advanced pupils of Curry Conservatory of Music took place yesterday afternoon. The following pianistes gave the program: Miss Mae Reynolds, Miss Florence Taylor, Miss Mary Miller and Miss Sara Totterdale. The vocalists were Miss Helen Blumenthal, Miss Ida Heatley and Miss Frieda Rosenthal. Miss Marie Sprague, a member of the faculty, sang several new songs, compositions of Director Simeon Bissell.

Guests Include Bridal Party.

An informal bridge whist party was given last evening by Miss Ida May Sipe at her home in Thorn street, Sewickley. Miss Sipe will be married Wednesday, October 4, to Mr. Charles E. Marks, and the guests at last night's affair included the bridal party and those who have come from New York to attend the wedding. There were 35 present.

School Girls Leaving Today.

Miss Katharine Patterson and Miss Margaret Patterson, daughters of Col. Frank R. Patterson of Graham street, East End, and Miss Edna Marie Motheral, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Motheral of Rebecca street, East End, will form a party leaving this evening for Taconic Preparatory school in Lakeville, Conn.

Entertains Sunday School Class.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard B. Chippenfield of Oakmont have issued invitations for a dinner to be given Wednesday evening of this week. The guests will be Mr. Chippenfield's Sunday school class of 15 young men. The dinner is especially in honor of Cadet Harry Campbell, who is home on a furlough from Annapolis.

Notes of Society.

The Olympia club of Oakmont will give a euchre contest Tuesday evening of this week. Prizes will be awarded.

Dr. S. Blumberg of the South Side has returned from a European trip. He had been absent over two months.

Dr. Thomas T. McNish and Mrs. McNish have just returned from a three months' tour of New England and lower Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Crusoe of Twenty-fifth street are home after a two weeks' visit to Mr. Crusoe's former home in New Hampshire.

Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson entertained a few friends at dinner on Saturday evening, the guests of honor being Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kay of Crafton and Mrs. E. F. Morgan of Fairmont, W. Va.

Mrs. William Henry Sivitter of Dithridge street, Bellefield, and daughter, Miss Frances Pierpont Sivitter, are home from Lake Chautauqua, N. Y., where they spent three months. Mrs. Sivitter may go to Atlantic City shortly.

Among the Clubs.

Club Rally in Homestead.

The Woman's club of Homestead held its President's day reception yesterday in the home of Mrs. Charles W. Ashley, and was fortunate in having as a guest, Miss Kate C. McKnight, the president of the State Federation of Pennsylvania women. Miss McKnight spoke of the program for the annual meeting of the federation in October, dwelling particularly on the educational work which will be presented at one of the sessions. Among others who were guests of the Homestead club were the presidents of several of the women's clubs in the towns of the Monongahela valley and in Pittsburgh and Allegheny, among those who spoke being Mrs. James R. Kibler, president of the New Era club; Mrs. Alexander Hunter, Wilkinsburg Woman's club; Mrs. Dallas Albert, Pittsburgh Scrosis; Mrs. John Cowley of the joint committee of Women's clubs in charge of the Monongahela summer playgrounds. The president of the Homestead club, Mrs. H. De La Cossitt, made an address in which she told of the work of the club women in literary, educational and civic lines, and of the happy co-operation of the clubs of that borough in various movements. The program was followed by the serving of tea, Mrs. Cossitt was elected the delegate to the State federation, Mrs. Charles W. Ashley being alternate.

Boulder to Mark Resting Place.

A huge gray stone boulder, suitably inscribed, will soon mark the site of the battle of Lundy's Lane, if the Dolly Madison chapter, United States Daughters of 1812, can overcome Canadian objections to such a monument. This was decided upon yesterday afternoon at the first meeting of the chapter this fall, held at the home of the regent, Mrs. Robert T. Reineman. Mrs. Edward H. Ward visited Canada this summer and made a tour of the region about Niagara and Lundy's Lane, and yesterday gave a description of the place, illustrated by photographs, and mentioning the pathetic fact that only a whitewashed board upon which is an inscription in black has been erected to the valor of the American soldiers who fell on that battlefield in the second war with England. Around it stand the noble shafts erected by a loyal British and Canadian people, but the opposition encountered by those desirous of erecting some monument to the American dead heretofore never been overcome. Petitions will be sent to influential men and women in Canada and an appeal will be made to the Canadian government for permission to mark with a simple boulder the site where 558 Americans fell in battle. A special meeting of the chapter will be held in about two weeks, as soon as some response has been received to the petitions sent out for aid in this work.

More Thorough in England.

Miss Agnes Lawton, director of art in the public schools of Homestead, has just returned from a summer spent abroad. At the first meeting of the Teachers' Art club yesterday afternoon in the Kindergarten college she spoke of the contrasts betwen the art work of the public school children in this country and in England, where she had opportunity to study the results of the school children in relief drawing. She also gave a thorough course for the English school children, though they do far less work in drawing, painting and designing than the American.

The meeting yesterday was a delightful one, the teachers meeting in the assembly room of the college informally, a short program being followed by the reception. Miss Mabel Alice Henry, the president for this year, presided, and in addition to Miss Lawton's talk there was music by Miss Chalmers, who sang a number of songs, accompanied by Miss Margaret Holbrook. There was a very good attendance of the members, who include the art teachers in the public and private schools throughout the county. The next meeting will be held in the High School building, Fifth avenue.

Miss McKnight Is Home.

Miss Kate C. McKnight came home on Saturday after almost two months of absence, a part of the time taking the lake trip, while the remaining weeks were spent in the Adirondacks. The program for the annual meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania women in Cambridge Springs, October 17, 18 and 19, is not yet completed, but announcement is made of interesting sessions devoted to education, forestry, child adulteration, the child labor laws, civil service reform, school cities and manual training, while another session will be devoted to a debate by six prominent club women on the topic, "Pennsylvania Ranks First Among the States in Natural and Educational Advantages." Miss Ida Tarbell is expected to make an address, and other distinguished men and women will be present and speak. The Tuesday Musical club of this city will give a concert.

Functions of Mothers' Meetings.

Mrs. Marion Langvettel, the head of the Froebel league of New York city, will lecture tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the First United Presbyterian church on "The Functions of Mothers' Meetings." On Thursday afternoon at the same hour, Mrs. Langvettel will speak in the private kindergarten in Academy avenue, Sewickley, and while in Sewickley will be the guest of Mrs. Edward A. Woods. Mrs. Langvettel comes to Pittsburgh under the auspices of the alumnae of the Kindergarten college, and will speak before the students, the alumnae and the mothers of the children in the kindergartens. The Froebel league of New York, of which she is the head, is composed of wealthy women of the metropolis who support a private kindergarten and primary school.

To Arrange for State Conference.

The quarterly meeting of the Allegheny County Equal Rights association will be held in the parlors of the Central Young Women's Christian association, Fifth street, on Thursday afternoon, September 28, at 2 o'clock. At that time plans for the year will be decided upon and arrangements made for the state conference which will be held in October.

Meeting of Monday Club.

The Monday club met last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Cunningham in Graham street, Shadyside. An interesting program was presented including music by the Madrigal quartette, composed of Miss Ruth May, Miss Helen Kell, Miss Elizabeth Dorchester and Miss Ada Carson. Miss Lulu Martan Genet being director and accompanist.

Monarch's Mayor Named for Congress.

NORWICH, CONN., Sept. 25.—Mayor Charles F. Mayer of this city, was nominated for congress at the Third district Democratic convention today, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Frank B. Brandegee, recently chosen senator to succeed the late Orville H. Platt. Edwin W. Higgins is the Republican nominee.

PRESS CLUB DAY GREAT SUCCESS AT LUNA PARK

City of Light Is Crowded All Day and During Chilly Evening—Great Masquerade Next Friday.

Press Club day at Luna park was one of the most successful days of the season of the "city of light." All day long crowds thronged to the park, and the place was full last night, despite the chilly weather. Tonight the visiting editors from all over Pennsylvania will be the guests of Manager Frederick Ingersoll. Especial entertainment will be provided for their benefit. The editors will be sure to take their ladies, for whom Manager Ingersoll has prepared a delightful surprise. What it is no outsider knows, but guesses have been made that it will be a beautiful souvenir that in years to come will remind the ladies of the outing at Luna.

The usual attractions at the park were reinforced by several others, notably by Roy and Ray Clinton, 8-year-old boxers, and Nichols F. Auen, in gun and baton drill. Kiralfy's ballet of 50 trained girls and the juvenile vaudeville gave performances which were greatly applauded.

Next Saturday will be the closing day at Luna park, and on Friday evening there will be a great masquerade, in which everybody is invited to compete for the prizes which will be offered for successful costumes. The park management will give $50 in gold to the person wearing the handsomest and most grotesque costume, and Pickering has given two chairs, one to be handed to the woman wearing the most grotesque costume and the other to the man attired the most comically. Guenther's band played at the park yesterday and will give two concerts daily.

TO ENTERTAIN MISSION.

Church Organization of Allegheny to Be Guests at Expo Tonight—Creatore Is Well Received.

The Providence mission of Allegheny, a military interdenominational church organization, will be guests at the Exposition this evening. The organization numbers 500 and will attend in uniform. During intermissions they will drill and give a dress parade exhibition.

Creatore and his band gave the first of a series of two weeks' concerts last evening. The soloists in his organization are considerably above the average, and special attention was paid to the ability of the harpist, Signor C. Sodere, last night. The acrobatic maneuvers of the popular bandmaster which have made him famous were in evidence last night, and caught the eye as fully and completely as the music of his band caught the ear. The following program has been arranged for this afternoon.

March, "Diamond Medal".....Engelmann
Overture, "Barber of Seville".....Rossini
Spanish Sernade, "La Paloma".....Yradier
Chorus from "Lombardi".....Verdi
Miserere from "Il Trovatore".....Verdi

4 P. M.

March, "Baltimore Centennial".....Herbert
Intermezzo, "Naila".....Delibes
Trombone Solo, "Stabat Mater".....Rossini
Signor Forcellati.
Intermezzo, "Ideal".....Nevin
Gems of Stephen Foster.....Tobani

Earnings Show a Decrease.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 25.—The fourth annual report of the American Locomotive Company to be submitted at the annual meeting of stockholders, to be held in New York, October 17, will show that gross earnings for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1905, were $24,150,201, a decrease of $8,518,549 from those of the previous year. The report will show that expenses were $19,796,653, a decrease of $7,905,451 from those of the year 1903-04. Net earnings will be $4,353,667, a decrease of $1,310,097.

DEMAND OBSERVANCE OF THE SUNDAY LAW

KITTANNING, PA., Sept. 25.—(Special.)—The citizens of Templeton, 10 miles north of here, have served notice that within their jurisdiction the Sabbath must be observed. The Allegheny Valley railroad is building a double track through that town and on Sunday put several hundred Italians to work. A public meeting was held and Constable Summers was directed to notify the contractors that they must stop or the men would be arrested for violating the Sunday law. After parleying, the men were called off work.

Business Opportunities.

WHY invest in mining stocks or doubtful enterprises located thousands of miles from Pittsburgh, merely on the statement that when in running order you may get dividends? When your money is in you cannot tell how it will be used. Better invest in Pittsburgh manufacturing stock offered by a corporation owning real estate as well as equipment for security to stockholders. Additional capital needed to take care of orders now turned down. But few factories of the kind in the United States and the extent of the business unlimited. Have made money from the start. Let us have your address and we will satisfy you as to the safety and profit. Address A 35, The Gazette.

THE advertiser, who is employed by a large New York corporation in the vicinity of Wall street, is desirous of meeting a discreet party (who has no business or other connection in New York), commanding $3,000 cash, to assist me in an A1 business transaction that will yield us a $30,000 profit within the coming month, without any risk to capital; money always under owner's control, who will act in capacity of transaction; this is a life-time opportunity for the right party; in answering kindly state age and business experience; reference asked and given. Address Robert Courtney, 142 East Twenty-seventh st., New York city.

SALOON—LOOK AT THIS BARGAIN.
SALOON—Located in heart of city of 70,000 population; catering to professional people; always has been the best place in the town, bar fixtures very fine; large stock of liquors; doing a large business; clearing, above all expenses, $300 per month; this is a snap and is for sale only on account of sickness; if you are looking for a first-class place see us at once; terms, $1,500 cash, balance easy; price.....$2,500
S. V. THOMPSON CO.,
Third Floor, 300 Times Bldg., 336 Fourth ave.

RESTAURANT doing an average daily business of over $125 and net profits of over $450 a month; excellent location, four miles from Pittsburgh postoffice; best of patronage; fixtures complete; I will sell to an immediate purchaser for less than $5,500; closest investigation afforded; my reason for selling is that I have business interests elsewhere that demand my full attention. Address B 67, The Gazette.

GROCERY STORE—In Wilkinsburg; this is one of the best located stores and has always done a strictly cash business; owing to other business I am not able to give it the attention to this store, and will sacrifice stock and fixtures, amounting to about $500, for $450; terms, half cash, balance secured.

CONSTRICTION OF MONEY SUPPLY LOWERS STOCKS

New York Market's Long Rise in Face of Increasing Call Rate Comes to End With Banks Recalling Credits.

Speculative liquidation yesterday overbore the resistance offered by the New York stock market through all of last week and carried prices comprehensively to a lower level. The constriction of the money supply was the impelling cause. The volume of offerings was large and the liquidation at times showed signs of urgency. The day's immediate factors in the money market has been heralded for weeks, but disregarded in the operations to advance prices. The temper of the stock market for many days has been to disregard any prospective influence and pay attention to nothing but the actual recall of credits in which stock market holdings were involved.

Such recall was in force on a large scale yesterday by the banks. The conditions of the banks as they stood in the showing of the Saturday bank statement, and the heavy credit requirements to be met this week are abundant explanation for the course of the banks in contracting loans, without taking account of the renewal of the drain on their cash reserves, which was set up again with the opening of the week.

Between now and the close of the week payments are to be made of an instalment of subscription to Atchison convertible bonds, which calls for $12,000,000 and to an instalment of subscriptions to Pennsylvania convertible bonds, which calls for $50,000,000 except as modified by payments in full already made. As the month closes with the week, provision must also be made for the quarterly settlements, the requirements for which are unusually large this year. The calling of loans was avowedly in preparation for the accommodation of these needs. Meantime the benefit secured by the banks last week from sub-treasury payments has been reversed by the completion of the mid-month pension payment. Yesterday's sub-treasury statement shows a loss already by the banks of $1,-949,000 and the government institution had a large credit balance at the clearing house yesterday morning. In addition $200,000 was deposited at the subtreasury to be transferred by telegraph to St. Louis.

The assertions circulated on Saturday that $5,000,000 was already on the way to San Francisco in Australian gold found confirmation, although conditions pointed to the possibility of such a movement. Assertions of additional gold purchased yesterday in London for New York were verified only after the market closed by the announcement of about $1,800,000 secured.

Foreign exchange rose quite sharply in the New York market and the price of gold was marked up in London. London had some difficulties of its own and was disturbed by reported labor troubles in the South African gold fields and by the approach of a perilocal stock market settlement. Canadian Pacific was markedly affected on this account owing to fears of an excessive commitment in the London market.

News of general affairs continued favorable, but the uniformity of recent reports of increasing railroad traffic was varied this week by damage caused by floods in the southwest. The recent annual report of the Atchison and the heavy losses for the year there shown from the damage by flood enforced the influence of the news. The failure of the St. Paul stockholders to take action toward issuing more stock caused disappointment on the part of a party of speculators who have counted very confidently upon such action. The announcement of the closing of a bank of Kansas City was of some sentimental influence, but it was understood that only a voluntary liquidation was involved with no probability of loss. The trading in stocks became very dull at times, but it was only in the pauses of liquidation, and when the market was active prices declined. The closing was irregular but near the lowest.

Bonds were heavy. Total sales par value, $3,465,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on call.

With one noteworthy exception the Pittsburgh stock market yesterday was without special features. This exception was Pittsburgh Oil and Gas which opened at 67, an advance of two points, and closed at 68, the sales amounting to 115 shares. The closing price was 3⅞ higher than the highest previous closing sale. The reason given for the stocks' activity was its large share in the benefits derived from the raise in the quotations on credit balances and the belief that the end of the rise has not yet been reached.

The transactions of the day were 3,131 shares of stock and $25,000 of bonds. Crucible Steel common, with total sales of 1,090 shares, was the largest item on the local list. It sold for awhile at the former figure, 13¾, then weakened to 10 and closed at 13½. The preferred closed at 69, a loss of ¼, but on a sale of a small lot reached during the day a high of 69⅝. Its low was 68⅜. Fireproof common was up ¼, and preferred a point. River Coal preferred also advanced a point. United Copper common, following the New York lead, dropped 2½ points. In the banking group Safe Deposit and Trust advanced $10 to $410. Pittsburgh Life and Trust was unchanged at 100. The bonds selling were Philadelphia Company old 5s, P. McK. & C. 5s, River Coal 6s ($21,000) and Sewer Pipe 6s. The only change was the advance of the River Coal issue ½ to 111½.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh Oil and Gas advanced three points beyond previous high mark and closed at 68.

General market was only moderately active.

Safe Deposit and Trust advanced $10 to $410.

Total sales were 3,131 shares of stock and $25,000 bonds.

Bank exchanges were $7,257,396 39, an increase of $566,000 over corresponding date of 1904.

IN WALL STREET

After big rise despite doubtful future, scarcity of money at last lowered stocks.

Banks recalled credits and speculative liquidation became very large.

Week will call for large expenditures, which will drain banks' reserves.

Foreign exchange rose rapidly and London marked up price of gold.

Total sales were: Stock, 696,100 shares; bonds, $3,465,000.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The effect of the New York market upon Pittsburgh was in evidence yesterday, seeming to deter the local brokers from carrying further the upward movement which made much progress last week. The local stocks, nevertheless, stood up well under the strain of the speculative liquidation in New York. It was evident that Pittsburgh Coal preferred would have gone higher in this market had not New York conditions of a financial character been such as to cause that security to be offered at lower prices there than in Pittsburgh. Here was a case where New York listing was for the time a disadvantage, for the price was kept back by the needs of money in the larger center.

In a smaller way there will be a considerable demand upon Pittsburgh banks at the end of the week, ending also the quarter, but as Pittsburgh money rates are practically stationary at 5 to 6 per cent, the effects locally will not be so marked.

President Zimmerman of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton says: "I regret that I was compelled to sell my C., H. & D. common stock, as I intended to make this a 20 per cent issue. Mr. Morgan got a bargain. C., H. & D. common can be made to pay 20 per cent. It would only be necessary to make the yearly earnings $28,000,000, just $3,000,000 more than at present. This I believe possible. Inside of three years the property will be worth double the amount paid by Mr. Morgan."

The Lake Superior Corporation has leased its copper plant on favorable terms to the Canadian Nickel Company, organized for the purpose of refining copper and nickel by electricity. A director of the Lake Superior Corporation says that although "its credit is excellent, it is not deemed wise at this time to take money from the steel and pulp mills, which are doing excellently, to develop the copper and nickel refining process." Hence the aforesaid lease.

The Ohio Bankers' association will meet in convention tomorrow and Thursday next at Cleveland. Gov. Myron T. Herrick will be one of the speakers, and the Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury, will also address the delegates. Papers will be read by Col. James R. Branch, secretary of the American Bankers' association; Harvey D. Goulder of Cleveland, Alfred M. Barrett, assistant secretary of the Guardian Trust Company of New York, and Drausin Wulsin, attorney, of Cincinnati. The latter will discuss "The Proposed Ohio Bank Law."

NOVEL PROJECT NEAR CORAOPOLIS

East End Lady Physician Buys Duffey Farm on Heights for Home Sites.

ANOTHER CHURCH DEAL

A rather novel proposition in real estate is to be tried in the Coraopolis Heights district by a woman physician of the East End, who has just bought the Thomas Duffey farm of 65 acres. The property is situated one mile west of Coraopolis and near Thorn run, and is one of the most desirable farms in the neighborhood, being fairly well improved and situated so that it is well adapted for plotting. It brought $30,000, or $200 an acre. The buyer has evidently taken into account the growing popularity of the region, for she proposes to sub-divide the farm into acre lots, which will be put on the market this fall. There is no location on Coraopolis Heights that affords a better view of the Ohio valley, and the project to offer small home sites at reasonable rates is bound to meet with considerable favor, owing to the costly improvements being made in the vicinity. Since the purchases of a dozen or more small farms on Coraopolis Heights by Pittsburgh business men the district is being improved rapidly with new and modern buildings, and four of the main roads are being macadamized, making it possible to get back and forth from the stations with ease in all seasons.

Deal for Church on the Hill.

It was reported yesterday that a deal is well along for the purchase of the property of the Centenary Methodist Episcopal church at the southeast corner of Wylie avenue and Kirkpatrick street. The church is a landmark in the district, and although still occupied by the congregation for religious services, is in bad repair and would cut a comparatively small figure in a deal for the site. The latter is 100 feet square, having streets on two sides and alleys on the other two. It has been reported several times that the church would move if the site could be disposed of to good advantage. This lot adjoins the Zieber property, also 100 feet square, at the northeast corner of Wylie avenue and Kirkpatrick street, which is also bounded by two streets and two alleys, and has the added advantage of being at the intersection of Center avenue. The deal for this property was mentioned in The Gazette two weeks ago, and it now develops that Ira Aronson of the Aronson-Friedman company, is the new owner, he having paid $35,000 for the lot. The corner was for years occupied by a drug store, and is one of the best-known locations on the hill. The five brick buildings on the lot are now renting for $3,000 a year, so that at the price paid the investment is a good one. This is no less than a half dozen sales of over $10,000 which have been announced from the Center avenue district within a week, showing that there is an unusual movement in this direction.

The decided boom in property in the Bellevue district, which months has brought about a considerable increase of late in the inquiry for residence properties in that part of Allegheny adjacent to Bellevue. More sales have been announced from this section since August 1 than for three months previous, and most of them are of the better class of houses. Property along California avenue and in the streets leading off from it is advancing steadily in price, especially if the houses are modern ones. Frontage that sold two years ago for $30 in the side streets is now bringing $65 a front foot, and is being picked up by investors who mean to improve it at once with houses costing from $10,000 up. Allegheny brokers have been listing all the properties they could in these wards this fall, and their books as if the few vacant streets would soon be improved with houses that will compare favorably with those in the better streets of Bellevue.

Rumors were current on the street yesterday of a sale of $240,000 in Liberty avenue, near Ninth street, involving about 40 feet of frontage. This is at the rate of $6,000 a foot, which is not exorbitant in view of the prices paid for lots near Eighth street a few months ago.

New Real Estate Company.

The East End Real Estate Company is the title of the latest concern to apply for a charter. Its incorporators are John McDonald, Victor E. Kelly, Frank C. Link, Timothy J. Hickey and F. G. Holden. The company will do a general real estate and insurance business.

The Real Estate Trust Company has added two more of salesmen A. NeSloeum, who has been for some time with the firm of Borland & Waddell, and was formerly in the employ of the Philadelphia Company. In the rent department the Real Estate Trust Company has also added two employes, R. E. Creighton of Crafton and O. T. Sanders of Wilkinsburg. All these men have had an extended experience in real estate and are well posted on values and conditions.

Mrs. Valentine Lange is taking bids on a three-story brick veneered store and residence and three two-story houses to be erected in Brushton avenue at a cost of $16,000, from plans by Architect George Esterhammer.

John Eichenlaub has plans for a three-story brick apartment building, 33x90 feet, which he will build for J. W. McCarthy at a cost of about $25,000.

McConnell Brothers have the contract for two residences to be built for E. M. West from plans by J. P. Craven at a cost of $10,000 each.

In the Oil fields

The number of completions in the lower southwest fields is diminishing rapidly and the month of September promises to show a smaller list than any month since the first year. The advance in the market should increase development work, but it will be at least two months before it will have any noticeable effect on the completed list. All of the wells drilled in or completed since last week are light pumpers or will go to swell the duster list. In the Indian creek district, Tyler county, the Tri-State Gas Company has completed a test on the F. Marion White farm and has given it a shot and will have a fair gasser in the Gordon. In the Conway district, the South Penn Oil Company has completed a second test on the Isaiah Barker farm and has a show for a 5-barrel pumper in the Big Injun sand. On Indian creek, McElroy district, F. G. Bish & Co., are making a deep test of their venture on the Nancy Allen farm. The well was drilled through the Big Injun and found nothing in that formation or any above and they decided to drill to the Gordon. They are now down 3,000 feet and still drilling.

In the Calvin district, Pleasants county, Edmonds & Schanwecker have completed a second test on the D. A. Bell farm and have a show for an 8-barrel pumper in the Cow Run sand. In the same district, J. A. Dotson & Co. have drilled their test on the W. C. Dotson farm through the Cow Run sand and have a duster. In the Smithfield district, Ritchie county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 23 on the I. D. Morgan farm into the top of the Gordon and has developed a very little gas and oil. It is still drilling and has a chance for a second pay. In the Mannington district, Marion county, the same company has completed its No. 2 on the Reason Amos farm and has a light gasser.

On the Ohio side, in the Woodsfield district, in Monroe county, the Troutman Drilling Company has drilled its No. 4 on the Barbara Burkhart farm through the Keener sand and has a show for a 20-barrel producer. In the Lowell district, Washington county, John M. Rice & Co. have a good producer at their No. 12 on the Rice heirs' farm. The well has been drilled through the 500-foot sand and is producing 60 barrels a day. In the same district, the Good Luck Oil Company has drilled in its No. 8 on the John Dyar farm and has a show for a good producer in the same formation.

Near New Alexander, Jefferson county, E. H. Jennings & Bros. Co. have completed a wildcat on the William Cox farm and have a duster in the Berea grit. The Colerain Oil Company has completed a test on the H. E. Walker farm and has a duster.

In the Mt. Morris district, Greene county, Pa., the South Penn Company has completed a test on the J. Stamm farm and has a show for a 25-barrel producer. At Economy, Beaver county, J. M. Shannon has completed his No. 66 on the Liberty Land Company's property and has a show for a very light pumper.

PROVISION PRICES BREAK IN ALL LINES

Sharp Reductions Made All Along the List—Butter Also Takes a Drop.

All lines in the local market suffered the usual Monday dullness yesterday. The butter market slumped off ½ cent, but this occasioned no surprise, as the market has been exceedingly dull for a couple of weeks. It is a little unusual, however, for a reduction to be made at this season, when prices should naturally be going the other way, owing to the scarcity of pastures. The cheese factories are also running now and taking a large part of the cream supply. Cheese remains firm at the advanced quotations, but a reduction in sympathy with the butter market would not be surprising.

There was nothing doing in the green goods and produce trade yesterday. Fruits showed no changes in quotations and the grocery line held the same figures as given yesterday morning. There was a general reduction in the provision market, every article in the list being marked down. This is in preparation for the fall rolling of country pork, which will soon commence and which always has a heavy effect on the market. These cuts and the ½ cent reduction in butter were the only changes the local market had to offer yesterday.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 43 cars hay, 3 cars corn, 2 cars oats, 4 cars straw, 8 cars feed, 3 cars rye. Baltimore & Ohio, 11 cars hay, 1 car corn, 2 cars oats, 1 car feed. Lake Erie, 3 cars oats, 7 cars hay, 3 cars rye, 2 cars feed, 1 car flour.

The hay and grain market appeared in the same condition yesterday that has marked it for the past week. The scarcity of oats continues and the light receipts are holding prices very firm. Advances in the west are being felt here, and general rises in the market are looked for this week.

Market Shows Great Strength.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The situation in the drygoods market today showed great strength, especially because of the appearance of buyers from China. Some new lines were reached, a fair amount of several lines and there was much speculation over the probability that Chinese buyers would extend their purchases to many other lines. A fair trade at both first and second hands was reported.

CHANGES ARE MADE ON THE WABASH

Operating Department of Lines East of Toledo Is Thoroughly Reorganized.

LOCAL DIVISION ENLARGED

Under date of yesterday circulars were issued which completely reorganizes the operating department of the Wabash lines east of Toledo. The most important changes affecting General Manager Robert Blickensderfer and Superintendent McMaster, have already been mentioned. The circular of President Delano concerning Mr. Blickensderfer reads:

"Mr. R. Blickensderfer being desirous of release from the more active duties of general manager, has resigned his position to accept the position of consulting engineer of the above lines. He will have general supervision over maintenance and construction work, and report to the first vice president.

"Mr. B. A. Worthington, first vice president, will hereafter assume the duties of general manager, with the title of first vice president and general manager."

Following this comes a circular issued by Mr. Worthington appointing H. W. McMaster general superintendent of the Wheeling & Lake Erie, Wabash Pittsburgh Terminal and West Side Belt. Mr. McMaster then issues as his circular No. 1 from the office of general superintendent the following:

"Effective this date, all of the lines east of and including Sherrodsville station will be known as the Pittsburgh division.

"All of the Toledo division west of Sherrodsville, including Navarre station and the Huron branch, will be known as the Toledo division.

"Mr. C. V. Wood is appointed superintendent of the Pittsburgh and Cleveland divisions, with headquarters at Canton, O.

"Mr. C. A. Van Dusen is appointed superintendent of the Toledo division, with headquarters at Canton, O.

"Mr. C. W. Coe is appointed assistant superintendent of the Pittsburgh division, with headquarters at Rook, Pa.

"Division superintendents shall be held responsible for the efficient and economical management of the property in their charge, and, under the direction of their superior officers, shall exercise on their respective divisions the same authority as is exercised by the general manager over the entire property."

Mr. Blickensderfer's railroad career is too well known in Pittsburgh to need retelling. Mr. McMaster is a product of the western lines. He entered railroad service when scarcely more than a boy, in 1873, starting as an operator and working up along that line to train dispatcher and trainmaster on western roads. He was called to the Wheeling & Lake Erie five years ago as superintendent of the Toledo division. Then his jurisdiction was extended over the entire property, with headquarters at Canton. With the resignation of J. W. Patterson, Jr., his authority was extended over the Wabash Pittsburgh Terminal.

C. V. Wood, the superintendent of the now enlarged Pittsburgh division, started in the service of the New York, New Haven & Hartford and came to Pittsburgh to enter the Lake Erie's operating department. He was taken by the West Side Belt, of which he was superintendent, when the Wabash secured that road, and was later made superintendent of the Wabash to Rook and the West Side Belt. His authority will now extend to Sherrodsville.

Mr. Van Dusen entered railroad service 20 years ago as a brakeman on the Lake Shore. Later he went with the Wheeling, where he rose through the offices of yardmaster, assistant trainmaster and assistant roadmaster to trainmaster.

Mr. Coe started his Wheeling & Lake Erie service in 1888 as a fireman. He became an engineer, then traveling engineer and then trainmaster at Columbia. He became assistant superintendent of the Pittsburgh division, with headquarters at Rook.

Considering the entire line from Pittsburgh to Toledo as one road, the appointments are all made within the organization itself and are distinctive in that the new officials have all risen directly from the ranks.

F. H. Tristram Back from Portland.

Fred H. Tristram, assistant general passenger agent of the Wabash system, reached Pittsburgh yesterday on his return from the convention of the American Association of Traveling Passenger Agents at Portland, Ore. He was welcomed at his office, but not so vociferously as at his flat in Oakland, where he found awaiting him the bull pup "Fritz," a present from George Robertson, city passenger agent of the Wabash at Chicago.

"The T. P. A. convention was a thorough success in that it gave to the passenger men who require it the knowledge of the country to which they are sending thousands of passengers yearly," said Mr. Tristram. "It also gives them an individual personal acquaintance with the people whom they must meet in business. This will, I think, be the last of the long trips of the association for some years to come. The members have seen now all the sections of the west, Mexico, the California cities and the northwest, as well as New Orleans. The 1906 convention will be at French Lick Springs and will be strictly a business affair. The association is fortunate in its new officers. The president is Charles A. Benjamin, traveling passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific at St. Louis, and the vice president is M. J. Roche, who represents the Denver & Rio Grande at Portland. L. W. Landman, general agent of the New York Central lines at Toledo, is by unanimous vote continued as secretary-treasurer."

Mr. Tristram and Walter Allen, district passenger agent of the Wisconsin Central, represented Pittsburgh at Portland.

Differential Fight Not Settled.

A conference between members of the Trunk Line association, the General Passenger association and Grand Trunk railway representatives was held in New York yesterday to discuss the question of a division of the emigrant traffic from the west to Atlantic coast ports. No agreement was reached.

The Grand Trunk railway objects to allowing the Michigan Central to convey these emigrant parties at reduced rates from points west of Chicago, because the Grand Trunk claims the Michigan Central is a standard road east of Chicago.

The other differential roads were willing to let the Michigan Central have this business under an agreement to divide it among all the roads, but the Grand Trunk representatives said that they would not recognize the Michigan Central differential, not having been a party to the recent arbitration of the question. Passenger Traffic Manager Davis of the Grand Trunk said:

"It will not be very long before the entire matter of differentials between the roads will have to be taken up, discussed and readjusted again on a new basis."

Pennsylvania Officials Coming.

All the arrangements have been completed for the meeting of the representatives of the passenger department of the Pennsylvania system to be held at the Hotel Schenley October 27. This is an annual gathering and the arrangements for the occasion show that there will be much to make the meeting interesting both from the business transacted and from the social features. Like all Pennsylvania officials' meetings, the business side of the gathering will receive the bulk of attention, and where it is possible to make a betterment in the service consideration will be given. Passenger Traffic Manager J. R. Wood of the Pennsylvania railroad will preside at the meeting.

Railroad Notes.

The Wabash official staff meeting will be held at the Pittsburgh offices tomorrow.

Fred H. Hess, city passenger and ticket agent of the Wabash at Cleveland, was a Pittsburgh visitor yesterday.

Col. Thomas E. Watt, passenger agent of the western division of the Pennsylvania railroad, returned to his desk yesterday from his annual vacation.

W. W. Parker, brakeman on the Panhandle's Dennison accommodation, returned to his run between Pittsburgh and Dennison yesterday after a wedding trip to Baltimore and Washington.

Leading men of the electric lines of the United States, Canada and Mexico will meet in Philadelphia this week for the annual convention of the American Street Railway association.

Thomas L. Painter, agent of the Lehigh Valley for this district, is now a full-fledged Pittsburgher, having moved his home and family from Williamsport to this city yesterday. The new home is in the East End.

Fred Treuleben, general agent of the United States Express Company for the Pittsburgh district, returned from his vacation sojourn at the Bermuda islands. He was accompanied by Mrs. Treuleben and by Vice President R. B. Ward and wife of the Ward-Mackey Company.

Pittsburghers Sue Coal Company.

WASHINGTON, PA., Sept. 25.—(Special.)—Margaret A. Maxwell and George E. Schreck of Pittsburgh have begun injunction proceedings against the Maple Creek Coal Company to restrain the company from mining certain coal tracts in Twilight and Speers boroughs and Allen township.

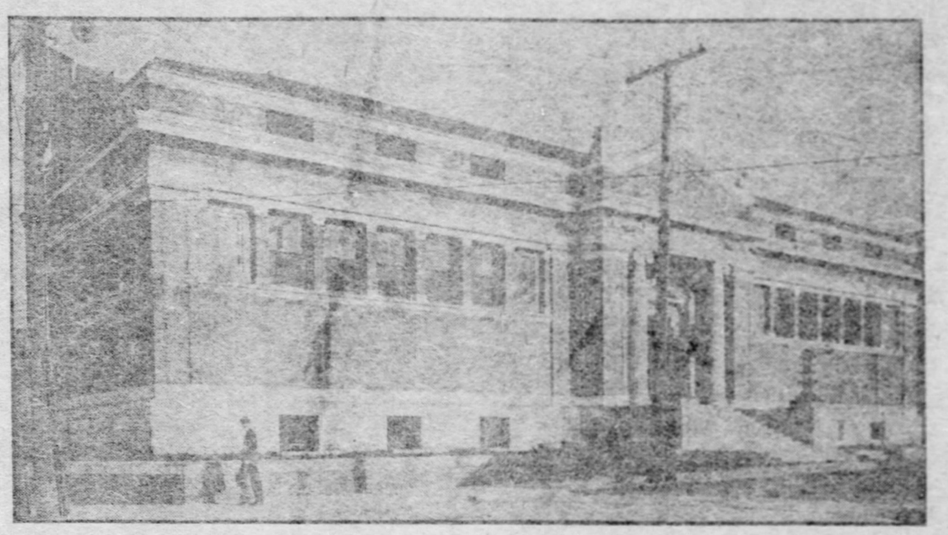
NEW CARNEGIE LIBRARY BRANCH IN THE EAST END



This handsome library will be opened to the public on October 10 with special ceremonies. The building cost $175,000. It will be maintained by the city. It is intended to serve a population of 75,000 people in the East End wards. It is located at the corner of Station street and Larimer avenue.

BIGELOW SAYS METER STRIKE IS SETTLED

City Plumbers May Not Return to Work Until After Election. Larkin Quits.

Hamilton avenue extension is not the only subject on which Director Bigelow says Controller Larkin has suspended operations. He calls attention to the fact that the controller has dropped the subject of water meters. Director Bigelow said yesterday that the strike of the city plumbers employed to install water meters had been settled, and that the men would soon be at work again. The director refused to go into details.

Supt. Shepherd of the water bureau said he did not know much about the matter, but the meter men might go back to work October 1. It is possible, however, they may not be put to work again by Director Bigelow until after the November election, because Controller Larkin has so bitterly denounced water meters that it might be unwise for the administration to destroy his campaign thunder by renewing the installation of meters so soon.

DISASTROUS FIRE VISITS CHARLEROI

CHARLEROI, PA., Sept. 25.—(Special.)—Lives were menaced and $10,000 worth of property was destroyed this evening by a fire that swept a row of tenement houses in Washington avenue. The blaze is said to have started through the explosion of an oil lamp in the home of John Sullivan. His home and those of John Melville, Thomas Bell, Otto Darbitz, J. F. Harris and Carl Wurst were destroyed. The houses, which were owned by Rosa Perkins, were insured. Almost all the furniture of the occupants was destroyed. The fire department had difficulty in preventing the flames from spreading to other buildings.

TWO COUPLES HAVE BEEN MARRIED FOR MANY YEARS

Uniontown the Scene of Two Unique Celebrations—One Couple Has Never Ridden on a Street Car.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

UNIONTOWN, PA., Sept. 25.—The sixtieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Robinson of Outcrop and the fifty-sixth wedding anniversary of Capt. and Mrs. John Bierer of Uniontown were both celebrated today. Mr. Robinson is 83 years old and his wife nearly 82. During their six decades of wedded life the two have not been separated for more than one day and night at any one time. Neither has been 100 miles away from where they now live. Neither has ever ridden on a street car.

Capt. and Mrs. John Bierer were the parents of nine children, eight of whom are living, including John Henry Bierer of Pittsburgh, Lieut.-Col. Everhart Bierer, Capt. Daniel Bierer and Miss Sophia, Wilson S., Charles, Thomas S. and Miss Mary R. of Uniontown.

Capt. Bierer, in 1857, was elected to the Pennsylvania legislature on the Democratic ticket, but since the Civil war he has been a Republican. Capt. Bierer served throughout the war and was part of the time captain of Company H of the One Hundred and Seventy-first Pennsylvania.

Finds the Body of a Suicide.

ASHTABULA, O., Sept. 25.—(Special.)—At Windsor, this county, the dead body of an unknown man was found by a boy in a remote corner of a farm. A bottle lay beside the body and it had contained carbolic acid. In the man's coat pocket was a clipping from a Cleveland paper telling of two suicides. It is supposed he had been dead for three weeks. He was about 35 years of age, had brown curly hair and smooth face.

Incorporates Collar Company.

A certificate of incorporation was filed in Dover, Del., yesterday for the Pittsburgh Collar Supply Company, to manufacture and sell gentlemen's furnishing goods. The incorporators are Mark G. Hibbs, J. K. Negley, Guy M. Negley, all of Pittsburgh. Capital stock, $10,000.

Annual Meeting of Synod.

GROVE CITY, PA., Sept. 25.—(Special.)—The first synod of the West of the United States Presbyterian church, opened its annual meeting here this evening with a sermon by the Rev. George W. McDonald of Allegheny. A praise service was conducted by the Rev. John A. Duff of Aspinwall. The meeting will continue until Wednesday afternoon. The synod is one of the largest of the denomination.

Will Improve Coal Mines.

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Sept. 25.—(Special.)—The United States Oil and Gas Company, owning coal mines in Logan county, today closed a deal for a valuable tract of land on the river front here and will at once begin the erection of gigantic coal tipples. A line of coal boats will be put in and $500,000 expended in the work.
